Newkirk Proposes $240 Boost For City Workers Over '51 Wage

Mayor Cites Difficulties Caused by Inflation, Which Has Demanded Curtailment of Some Improvements and Services

In his opening speech of the fall election campaign, Wednesday night, Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk said his "task has been made more difficult by the constantly rising prices," and he proposed that because of higher living costs city employes should receive a $240 increase over 1951 salaries.

Newkirk stressed that all workers should get the hike, except himself and employes whose salaries are fixed by the city charter.

The mayor said, "Many additional improvements could have been made and services provided" if the city government had not been faced with the problem of inflation.

"I realize that our local taxpayers have been struggling with these same increased costs of living and doing business," he said, "that their federal taxes are high and will now be higher because of the new tax law passed last week by Congress.

"We have not been able to comply with many reasonable requests for worthwhile service and improvements because we cannot afford them . . ." the mayor pointed out.

His speech was as follows:

Text of Address

Tonight I address you the people of the City of Kingston for the first time in the 1951 mayoralty campaign.

Once again you the people are called upon, in accordance with our great American tradition, to weigh the merits of candidates, to consider the record and to decide whom you want to serve you in public office for the next two years.

It has been a great privilege for me to serve you in the past and it is my fervent hope that you will deem me worthy of your support on Election Day.

On December 30, 1947, upon the eve of my taking office, I said to the people of the City of Kingston: "During the political campaign which resulted in my election I made one promise and pledge. I knew that our financial situation was so bad that we could not accomplish many things we all wanted to do. But there is one thing that I did promise and that was to try to do a good job. To me, that was my most important pledge and that pledge I shall keep by applying myself during all of my waking hours to a solution of our city's problems."

Now you are the jury to decide whether I have done a good job—whether I have acted honestly, courageously, competently and sincerely in the conduct of my office. I do not say that I might not have made some errors for to err is human and we all learn by expreience. The best batter in the league does not have a batting average of 1.000. But I do say that I have given my best efforts to do a good job under difficult circumstances.

Anyone in public office must be guided by a philosphy of government and definite principles. I have followed those of the Republican party. It is the party that has done much for the people of Kingston and Ulster county.

I have arrived at decisions only after careful study of all the facts. In announcing those decisions, I have been forthright and honest.

My task has been made more difficult by the constantly rising prices. Many additional improvements could have been made and services provided if we had not been faced with the problem of inflation.

Sees Plight of Taxpayers

I realize that our local taxpayers have been struggling with these same increased costs of living and doing business; that their federal taxes are high and will now be higher because of the new tax law passed last week by Congress.

With prices and taxes rising, I have constantly asked myself the question: "Where is the money coming from to do the many things that your city government has been asked to do?"

The answer is simple. We have not been able to comply

Man Says General Eisenhower Would Accept, if Duty

Ex-Publisher Says Answer to Query Was Officer Never Put Self Above Service

New York, Oct. 25 (AP)—A former New Englander publisher says Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower told him he would run for president "if it were a matter of duty."

Leonard V. Finder, who was active in the short-lived Eisenhower boom of 1948, wrote in Collier's Magazine that Eisenhower would accept either a Republican or Democratic draft if "it is clearly an expression of the American people's wishes."

Finder said the general told him:

"You have always understood that I do not want political office, that I have done my best to avoid it; but that I would have to accept if it were a matter of duty. I have never placed myself above my country's commands."

In 1948, Eisenhower sent Finder a famous letter in which he said he could not accept a presidential nomination. He said then that life-long professional soldiers should not seek high political office "in the absence of some obvious and overriding reason."

Finder quoted Eisenhower as telling him recently," my hope had been that somebody else, some candidate seeking the office and better qualified, would have turned up in the years since 1948."

Would Compel Acceptance

Finder, who formerly published the Manchester (N. H.) Evening Leader, said he believed on his own initiative and "without pretense of any special authorization" that the general's sense of duty would compel him to accept a draft.

"The nomination cannot be the product of political deals made by alleged spokesmen in his name, nor can it have any other strings attached," Finder continued.

Finder said Eisenhower would be more disposed to accept a Republican than a Democratic nomination to run for President next year. But if the Republicans pick Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, Finder said Eisenhower would be willing to run against him on the Democratic ticket.

Still An Isolationist

"In the view of many Republicans," Finder said, "Senator Taft is still 'an isolationist.' General Eisenhower believes profoundly in the necessity for all free nations pulling together or hanging separately. . . . The possible election of a man of Senator Taft's philosophy would constitute a challenge. . . . If the Democratic convention were to name him (Eisenhower) as the party flag bearer against the senator, he would have to accept."

Finder said the general and he agreed "long ago" that he could make three statements regarding Eisenhower's position on the presidency:

"That we had met and discussed the matter; that he prefers to abide by the contents of his letter to me; and, since it remained my personal conviction following those meetings, that he could be drafted. This is the first time I am availing myself of that agreement."

Heavy Balloting Goes On in Britain Under Sunny Sky

Fleets of Automobiles Help to Carry Voters to Polls—King Is Interested

London, Oct. 25 (AP)—Millions of Britons trooped to ballot boxes today in a critical election that marked the second—and possibly the last—of Winston Churchill's relentless efforts to unseat the Socialist Government of Prime Minister Clement Attlee.

Early reports indicated the voting throughout the morning was heavier than normal in many districts.

The weather, which had been foggy and cold when the polls opened at 7 a. m., turned fine during the morning. In London, the sun shone brilliantly in an almost cloudless sky.

Some people waited in the grey, clammy dawn to cast their ballots as soon as the polls opened. Workmen stopped on their way to factories, mingling with others coming home from all-night shifts.

Both Conservatives and Socialists sent fleets of automobiles through the streets to carry voters who were short of time or unable to find other transportation.

Election officials in many districts throughout London and other large cities, including Cardiff, Leeds and Bristol, reported very heavy voting during the morning.

Mayor Will Speak At Hospital Rites

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk will be the principal speaker at the laying of the cornerstone of the new Benedictine Hospital wing at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Msgr. Martin J. Drury, president of the Hospital Board of Advisors, announced today.

In making the announcement Monsignor Drury said that no personal invitations had been sent out but the general public is cordially invited.

James A. Dwyer, general co-chairman of the campaign, along with Senator Arthur H. Wicks, will also speak briefly as will Monsignor Drury. The new wing will be open for use early this spring and will provide 98 more adult beds for Ulster county, along with four new surgeries, a new maternity section, pediatric section, X-ray department and new kitchen.

The third general report meeting of the $600,000 building fund campaign will be held at 7:30 o'clock this evening at the municipal auditorium to which all chairmen, majors, captains and workers are urged to attend.

The final meeting of the campaign will be held at 6:30 o'clock next Tuesday evening at the auditorium. This report meeting will be in the form of a dinner at which some 350 to 400 workers are expected to attend.

Cost of Living Index Set at Record High

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—The government's cost of living index rose another 0.6 per cent to a record high between Aug. 15 and Sept. 15, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported today.

The increase will yield a slight pay boost for more than 100,000 workers, the bureau said, including 70,000 General Electric Corporation employes.

Their pay rate is hitched to the government index under terms of the company's contract with the CIO International Union of Electrical Workers.

Chiefly responsible for the rise was a 2.7 per cent increase in apparel. It rose to 209.0 of the 1935-39 average, a new high.

The government's over-all index of retail prices of goods and services bought by moderate-income city families, rose to 186.06 per cent of the 1935-39 level. It was one of the sharpest rises for any month since the price freeze of last January.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—The position of the Treasury Oct. 23: Net budget receipts $209,201,342.28; budget expenditures $283,941,814.52; cash balance $5,491,898,815.69; customs receipts for month $37,886,918.52; budget receipts for fiscal year (July 1) $14,404,625,404.28; budget expenditures for fiscal year $18,973,036,042.63; budget deficit $4,568,400,638.35; total debt $258,260,455,004.85; increase over previous day $118,332,807.23; gold assets $22,144,214,961.77.

Government Discusses Price Premium to Assist Army

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—A proposal that the army be allowed to offer premium prices as a means of getting essential supplies of beef was being discussed in government circles today.

The proposal found considerable support at the Agriculture Department, where there has been a reluctance to join the Office of Price Stabilization on some other proposals which some OPS officials say would not only get supplies for the military but help to enforce price ceilings.

In recent weeks, the armed services have been unable to buy all the beef they need. Relatively few slaughterers have bid on army purchase officers. Some have said they have been unable to buy enough beef cattle to supply their normal civilian customers. Others have said that government price ceilings are such as to make it more profitable to sell to civilian outlets.

The OPS has submitted to the Agriculture Department a plan under which the government would requisition beef production of individual eligible slaughterers under certain conditions. In general, it would take beef supplies in excess of production in the corresponding period last year.

The plan also would attempt to limit beef production by individual slaughterers for civilian markets to 100 per cent of the quantity produced in the like period last year.

The OPS contends that such a limitation would tend to reduce cattle buying by some plants which have greatly expanded operations. This expansion has resulted in sharp competition for cattle and much overpayment.

The Agriculture Department is

Remington Indicted Anew on Charges

New York, Oct. 25 (AP)—William W. Remington, former government economist whose perjury conviction was reversed on appeal, was indicted today by a federal grand jury on new perjury charges.

The new five-count indictment alleged that he lied five times at his trial earlier this year.

United States Attorney Myles J. Lane said a grand jury held that Remington perjured himself under oath on the witness stand.

Fights Break Out On Waterfront as Lines Are Crossed

Hundred Stevedores Gain Pier, Then Leave; 122 Vessels Are Idled

New York, Oct. 25 (AP)—A brief but spirited shuffle erupted on New York's strike-becalmed waterfront today when some 100 longshoremen drove through the strikeers' picket lines.

The sortie, led by a supporter of President Joe Ryan of the AFL International Longshoremen's Association broke through and around a picket line of 250 men at a Hudson river pier where the liner Coronia had just docked.

Fisticuffs broke out. There was a flurry of shoving, yelling and gouging. No one was seriously hurt, police said.

The invaders reached the dock, but then turned around and left without unloading the 300 tons of general cargo from the British liner. The pickets, who are rebelling against a recently negotiated contract, watched sullenly as the group retreated.

Bower Says No Work

Harold Bower, a pro-Ryan man who led the invasion, denounced the wildcat strike, but said "we will not work in a section where there are pickets." He didn't explain the action further.

The flurry came as rebel leaders of the anti-Ryan strikers threatened to spread the paralyzing stoppage to Philadelphia, Baltimore and Chester, Pa.

Virtually all piers in the big port of New York, including New Jersey docks, and in Boston already have been shut down by the strike.

A total of 122 ships have been immobilized, some of them with perishable cargoes rotting in the holds. Tons of other freight was piling up on docks at the rate of $25,000,000 worth a day.

John J. Sampson, leader of the rebel strikers, said pickets were en route to the three other cities, but there was no word yet of any action from those points.

Will Respect Pickets

In Baltimore, Steve Mack, a longshore spokesman, said his men will respect pickets from New York. The CIO Maritime Union there also said it will honor picketing against all cargoes but military ones.

A three-hour heated session between rival factions of the longshore union broke up early today without any agreement.

Federal Mediator Clyde M. Mills, who presided at the meeting, when asked about the progress of negotiations to end the 11-day old rebel strike, said only:

"They got a lot of things off their chests."

Mills added that he would call another meeting later in the day.

Meanwhile, Joseph P. Ryan, ILA president, said he would meet with his executive board at 10 a. m. today to cope with the new developments.

Besides the New York and New Jersey piers, Boston and Albany, N. Y., docks have been idle. However, the longshoremen returned to work at the port of Albany today, and said they would load the only ship remaining there—the American Judge, a grain vessel.

Another ship, the Nyhaug, sailed yesterday for Philadelphia after the Albany dockworkers had refused to remove its cargo of figs and nuts.

About 300 dock workers are employed in Albany.

Officials of the union's Albany local were not available to explain the return.

Mark Panmunjom Site

Munsan, Korea, Oct. 25 (AP)—An 800,000,000 candlepower searchlight was turned on in Panmunjom tonight to guide warplanes away from the site of the renewed Korean armistice talks. The light, stabbing 36,000 feet into the sky, was visible here and in Seoul, nearly 30 miles south of Panmunjom. In Tokyo, it was announced 27,000 tons of hydrogen were airlifted to Korea to inflate brightly colored balloons which will mark the site for planes during daylight.

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—Frank McKinney, Indianapolis banker, was described by congressional Democratic sources today as a "good bet" to become the new chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

Red Envoy Has Parley With El Din

Egypt's Foreign Minister Tells Reporters Red Demand for Judge Was Subject

Won't Quit Sudan

Britain Repeats Stand Regarding the Cotton Area in South

Cairo, Oct. 25 (AP)—Russia's envoy to Egypt met for 90 minutes last night with Egyptian Foreign Minister Salah El Din and Cairo newspapers erupted today with banner headlines on the news.

Salah El Din told reporters after the meeting that he and Soviet Minister Semen Pavlovitch Kozyrev had discussed "Egypt's support of Russia's demand for appointment of a Russian judge at The Hague International Court and other questions concerning Egypt."

The independent newspaper Al Ahram said Salah El Din, asked by reporters whether Russia had offered Egypt arms, replied that armament affairs were not discussed.

Britain, already maintaining a tight military and naval control of the Suez Canal zone, reiterated her determination also not to be forced out of the vast cotton-growing Sudan to the south.

In the Sudan's capital, Khartoum, British Civil Secretary Sir James Robertson told the Legislative Assembly today Egypt's cancellation of the 1899 condominium agreement was invalid. The agreement set up joint British-Egyptian control of the Sudan, which Egypt now claims as hers alone.

Would Give Self-Rule

Egypt has said she would give the Sudan self-rule under the Egyptian crown, with Egypt retaining control of defense, finance and foreign affairs. From the British side, Robertson today promised the Sudanese "a full self-governing constitution" by the end of next year.

Robertson indicated, however, that Britain also plans restrictions, at least at first, on Sudanese independence. The constitution, he told the assembly, would satisfy the "immediate aspirations" of the Sudanese.

The Egyptians talked just as determinedly. Salan El Din in a fiery speech last night said Egypt must prepare for a "long struggle" against the British she is seeking to oust from the Suez Canal zone and the Sudan.

He spoke before the National Pact Committee, organized after Egypt broke off her 1936 treaty with Britain 11 days ago.

Must Use Arms

The foreign minister said "we must use the arms the British always have used against us," adding, "our fight will require all our energies and perhaps blood. We are not against a weak enemy, but a strong one."

Underlining the foreign minister's words, Egyptian Royal Air Force jet planes were seen flying low over Cairo today. It was not immediately apparent what their mission was.

Al Ahram reported—without confirmation—that U. S. Ambassador Jefferson Caffery was acting as mediator between the Egyptians and British in an effort to help settle their dispute over the Suez area.

McCaffery was received in audience yesterday by King Farouk at the Montazeh Palace in Alexandria.

Caffery Confers

Caffery conferred later with British Minister M. J. Creswell in Cairo.

There was no official announcement of what was discussed at either meeting.

In the canal zone British warships foiled an attempt by Egyptian authorities to deny British merchant ships transit through the waterway. The Egyptians refused them clearance. The British navy, backed up by its ships at either end of the canal entrance, authorized the merchantmen to go through.

Rail and road traffic also remained under tight British military control.

A British military spokesman said general quiet has prevailed throughout the canal zone over the past 24 hours.

He said, however, that there was growing labor unrest in the Suez area, because of the strained Anglo-Egyptian relations. Britains big ordnance depot at Tel El Kebir was hard hit by walkouts, he said, with only 40 per cent of the Egyptian workers reporting yesterday.

The spokesman said all Egyptian government schools in the zone would close after today on orders of the Egyptian interior minister.

Swift Push Takes Reds By Surprise

Nine Engines, 99 Cars Destroyed by Bombs —Lull Falls on Battle Fronts

Corsair Crashes

Craft Is Struck, Falls and Burns — Pilot Believed Lost

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, Oct. 25 (AP)—Allied warplanes pounded the crippled North Korean rail system today in one of the war's most concentrated attacks.

Wave after wave of fighter bombers roared down on Red rolling stock caught out in the open. U. S. Fifth Air Force officers said the Reds were completely surprised and had no time to get their trains into the shelter of tunnels.

Nine locomotives and 99 railcars were destroyed. Nineteen locomotives and 129 cars were listed as damaged.

Three brief jet battles were recorded during the day. One Russian-made MIG-15 was damaged. There were no reports of allied losses.

One F-4-U Corsair crashed and burned in Red territory after being hit by ground fire. The air force said there was no chance the pilot survived.

Lull Reported on Fronts

A comparative lull fell across the battle fronts as truce talks resumed in Panmunjom.

There was some sharp action southeast of Kumsong on the central front. Tank-supported infantry seized a Communist-held hill despite strong Red resistance.

Doughboys stormed the high ground as American tanks hit the Chinese entrenched in their bunkers.

South of this peak, other allied foot soldiers maintained pressure against Chinese forces clinging to the tip of a high ridgeline mostly occupied by the allies.

Southwest of Kumsong a tank-infantry force probed almost a mile deep into Red defenses before turning back.

440 Destroyed in War

The locomotives destroyed brought the Fifth Air Force reported total to 440 for the entire war. In that time 545 have been damaged.

In other attacks UN planes cut rails in 54 places and damaged six bridges.

Ten MIG-15s made one firing pass at F-84 Thunderjets during the afternoon. They fled to their Manchurian base before any damage was inflicted to either side.

About 50 Russian-made MIG-15 jets jumped 31 American Sabre Jets flying cover for fighter-bombers in northwest Korea early this morning. One MIG was damaged in the 10-minute battle. There were no reports of Allied losses.

About the same time, two propellor-driven Corsairs and Marine Tigercat jets were attacked by about 20 MIGs. The U. S. Fifth Air Force said no damage was inflicted by either side.

The tank-infantry team on the central front encountered heavy small arms and automatic weapons fire and repulsed one light counterattack in its sortie near Kumsong.

To Propose Federation

Paris, Oct. 25 (AP)—Foreign Minister Robert Schuman said today he will propose immediate political federation of Europe at the Council of Europe session next month. He said both U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson and British Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison approve the move which he will make at Strasbourg during the council session which opens Nov. 26.

Stalled Peace Better

Pittsburgh, Oct. 25 (AP)—"A stalemated peace is better than a stalemated war," Senator Taft (R.-Ohio) declared today at a news conference in which he urged pressing for completion of the Korean cease fire negotiations.

UN Proposes Buffer OnKoreanPeninsula

Milk Strike End Might Be Gained

Meanwhile 12 Million Consumers Are Minus Their Supplies

New York, Oct. 25 (AP)—Union and industry spokesmen said today there are prospects for an end by tomorrow morning of a strike that has cut off milk deliveries to the entire three-state metropolitan area.

The milkmen's strike has cut off supplies to about 12,000,000 consumers.

The prediction of a possible settlement came as negotiators met for second day, and as housewives and children rushed to queue up in grocery stores and processing plants in the scramble to get milk.

Representatives of both sides said they hoped an agreement could be reached in time to resume deliveries tomorrow morning.

Milk drivers and plant workers in New York city and surrounding counties, northern New Jersey and southwestern Connecticut, represented by the AFL Teamsters Union, walked out yesterday demanding a 20 per cent pay increase.

How long the supply on hand for over-the-counter deliveries would last was questionable. Upstate dairymen were diverting milk to local plants for processing

Area May Be Given by Two Sides to Agreement — No Reaction

Munsan, Korea, Oct. 25 (AP)—The United Nations today proposed a give-and-take compromise to set up a buffer zone across the wartorn Korean peninsula.

The UN proposal called for the allies to yield about 200 square miles of North Korea in the east, and for the Reds to give up a similar area in the west.

The buffer zone would be about 2½ miles wide and follow generally present battle lines.

The proposal was introduced in a subcommittee meeting in Panmunjom shortly after cease-fire negotiations were resumed by the main Red and allied teams, ending a 64-day breakdown in the parleys.

There was no immediate indication of Communist reaction. The Reds previously demanded a buffer zone along Parallel 38, old political boundary between North and South Korea.

Caution Is Voiced

Maj. Gen. Henry I. Hodes, subcommitteeman who presented the allied proposal, cautioned the Reds to accept it, or face a less favorable offer later. He pointed out that while talks were in recess, the allies had advanced their line many miles northward.

After the proposal, accompanied by detailed maps, was made to

Marine Morale Is Reported Low at Three Bases in U.S.

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—A Senate Armed Services subcommittee reported today it had found dissatisfaction and low morale among marines—particularly recalled reservists—at three bases.

"This was discouraging in view of the long history of high morale and esprit de corps of the marines," the group said. There was no immediate comment from the marine corps.

The three bases are El Toro and Camp Pendleton in California and Camp Lejeune in North Carolina.

The subcommittee criticized the navy and marine corps for what it called lavish use of men and money, in a report which also covered conditions at the Marine Corps Air Station, Qauntico, Va., the navy's amphibious base at Little Creek near Norfolk, Va., and the navy's submarine base, New London, Conn.

The preparedness subcommittee, headed by Senator Lyndon Johnson (D.-Tex.) was set up shortly after fighting broke out in Korea to keep an eye on the mobilization program. This was its 31st report; others have dealt with a wide variety of mobilization problems.

In general, the latest report praised the food, clothing supplies, instruction, medical care, housing and recreation facilities at the six training centers.

But in addition to reporting low morale at the three marine bases, the subcommittee was critical of what it called a "lack of cost consciousness" among officers at the six centers.

This factor "involves waste—

The increase will yield a slight pay boost for more than 100,000 workers, the bureau said, including 70,000 General Electric Corporation employes.

Their pay rate is hitched to the government index under terms of the company's contract with the CIO International Union of Electrical Workers.

Chiefly responsible for the rise was a 2.7 per cent increase in apparel. It rose to 209.0 of the 1935-39 average, a new high.

The government's over-all index of retail prices of goods and services bought by moderate-income city families, rose to 186.06 per cent of the 1935-39 level. It was one of the sharpest rises for any month since the price freeze of last January.

Heavy Balloting Goes On in Britain Under Sunny Sky

Fleets of Automobiles Help to Carry Voters to Polls—King Is Interested

London, Oct. 25 (AP)—Millions of Britons trooped to ballot boxes today in a critical election that marked the second—and possibly the last—of Winston Churchill's relentless efforts to unseat the Socialist Government of Prime Minister Clement Attlee.

Early reports indicated the voting throughout the morning was heavier than normal in many districts.

The weather, which had been foggy and cold when the polls opened at 7 a. m., turned fine during the morning. In London, the sun shone brilliantly in an almost cloudless sky.

Some people waited in the grey, clammy dawn to cast their ballots as soon as the polls opened. Workmen stopped on their way to factories, mingling with others coming home from all-night shifts.

Both Conservatives and Socialists sent fleets of automobiles through the streets to carry voters who were short of time or unable to find other transportation.

Election officials in many districts throughout London and other large cities, including Cardiff, Leeds and Bristol, reported very heavy voting during the morning.

Mayor Will Speak At Hospital Rites

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk will be the principal speaker at the laying of the cornerstone of the new Benedictine Hospital wing at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Msgr. Martin J. Drury, president of the Hospital Board of Advisors, announced today.

In making the announcement Monsignor Drury said that no personal invitations had been sent out but the general public is cordially invited.

James A. Dwyer, general co-chairman of the campaign, along with Senator Arthur H. Wicks, will also speak briefly as will Monsignor Drury. The new wing will be open for use early this spring and will provide 98 more adult beds for Ulster county, along with four new surgeries, a new maternity section, pediatric section, X-ray department and new kitchen.

The third general report meeting of the $600,000 building fund campaign will be held at 7:30 o'clock this evening at the municipal auditorium to which all chairmen, majors, captains and workers are urged to attend.

The final meeting of the campaign will be held at 6:30 o'clock next Tuesday evening at the auditorium. This report meeting will be in the form of a dinner at which some 350 to 400 workers are expected to attend.

Government Discusses Price Premium to Assist Army

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—A proposal that the army be allowed to offer premium prices as a means of getting essential supplies of beef was being discussed in government circles today.

The proposal found considerable support at the Agriculture Department, where there has been a reluctance to join the Office of Price Stabilization on some other proposals which some OPS officials say would not only get supplies for the military but help to enforce price ceilings.

In recent weeks, the armed services have been unable to buy all the beef they need. Relatively few slaughterers have bid on army purchase officers. Some have said they have been unable to buy enough beef cattle to supply their normal civilian customers. Others have said that government price ceilings are such as to make it more profitable to sell to civilian outlets.

The OPS has submitted to the Agriculture Department a plan under which the government would requisition beef production of individual eligible slaughterers under certain conditions. In general, it would take beef supplies in excess of production in the corresponding period last year.

The plan also would attempt to limit beef production by individual slaughterers for civilian markets to 100 per cent of the quantity produced in the like period last year.

The OPS contends that such a limitation would tend to reduce cattle buying by some plants which have greatly expanded operations. This expansion has resulted in sharp competition for cattle and much overpayment.

The Agriculture Department is

Remington Indicted Anew on Charges

New York, Oct. 25 (AP)—William W. Remington, former government economist whose perjury conviction was reversed on appeal, was indicted today by a federal grand jury on new perjury charges.

The new five-count indictment alleged that he lied five times at his trial earlier this year.

United States Attorney Myles J. Lane said a grand jury held that Remington perjured himself under oath on the witness stand.

Fights Break Out On Waterfront as Lines Are Crossed

Hundred Stevedores Gain Pier, Then Leave; 122 Vessels Are Idled

New York, Oct. 25 (AP)—A brief but spirited shuffle erupted on New York's strike-becalmed waterfront today when some 100 longshoremen drove through the strikeers' picket lines.

The sortie, led by a supporter of President Joe Ryan of the AFL International Longshoremen's Association broke through and around a picket line of 250 men at a Hudson river pier where the liner Coronia had just docked.

Fisticuffs broke out. There was a flurry of shoving, yelling and gouging. No one was seriously hurt, police said.

The invaders reached the dock, but then turned around and left without unloading the 300 tons of general cargo from the British liner. The pickets, who are rebelling against a recently negotiated contract, watched sullenly as the group retreated.

Bower Says No Work

Harold Bower, a pro-Ryan man who led the invasion, denounced the wildcat strike, but said "we will not work in a section where there are pickets." He didn't explain the action further.

The flurry came as rebel leaders of the anti-Ryan strikers threatened to spread the paralyzing stoppage to Philadelphia, Baltimore and Chester, Pa.

Virtually all piers in the big port of New York, including New Jersey docks, and in Boston already have been shut down by the strike.

A total of 122 ships have been immobilized, some of them with perishable cargoes rotting in the holds. Tons of other freight was piling up on docks at the rate of $25,000,000 worth a day.

John J. Sampson, leader of the rebel strikers, said pickets were en route to the three other cities, but there was no word yet of any action from those points.

Will Respect Pickets

In Baltimore, Steve Mack, a longshore spokesman, said his men will respect pickets from New York. The CIO Maritime Union there also said it will honor picketing against all cargoes but military ones.

A three-hour heated session between rival factions of the longshore union broke up early today without any agreement.

Federal Mediator Clyde M. Mills, who presided at the meeting, when asked about the progress of negotiations to end the 11-day old rebel strike, said only: "They got a lot of things off their chests."

Mills added that he would call another meeting later in the day.

Meanwhile, Joseph P. Ryan, ILA president, said he would meet with his executive board at 10 a. m. today to cope with the new developments.

Besides the New York and New Jersey piers, Boston and Albany, N. Y., docks have been idle. However, the longshoremen returned to work at the port of Albany today, and said they would load the only ship remaining there—the American Judge, a grain vessel.

Another ship, the Nyhaug, sailed yesterday for Philadelphia after the Albany dockworkers had refused to remove its cargo of figs and nuts.

About 300 dock workers are employed in Albany.

Officials of the union's Albany local were not available to explain the return.

Mark Panmunjom Site

Munsan, Korea, Oct. 25 (AP)—An 800,000,000 candlepower searchlight was turned on in Panmunjom tonight to guide warplanes away from the site of the renewed Korean armistice talks. The light, stabbing 36,000 feet into the sky, was visible here and in Seoul, nearly 30 miles south of Panmunjom. In Tokyo, it was announced 27,000 tons of hydrogen were airlifted to Korea to inflate brightly colored balloons which will mark the site for planes during daylight.

Red Envoy Has Parley With El Din

Egypt's Foreign Minister Tells Reporters Red Demand for Judge Was Subject

Won't Quit Sudan

Britain Repeats Stand Regarding the Cotton Area in South

Cairo, Oct. 25 (AP)—Russia's envoy to Egypt met for 90 minutes last night with Egyptian Foreign Minister Salah El Din and Cairo newspapers erupted today with banner headlines on the news.

Salah El Din told reporters after the meeting that he and Soviet Minister Semen Pavlovitch Kozyrev had discussed "Egypt's support of Russia's demand for appointment of a Russian judge at The Hague International Court and other questions concerning Egypt."

The independent newspaper Al Ahram said Salah El Din, asked by reporters whether Russia had offered Egypt arms, replied that armament affairs were not discussed.

Britain, already maintaining a tight military and naval control of the Suez Canal zone, reiterated her determination also not to be forced out of the vast cotton-growing Sudan to the south.

In the Sudan's capital, Khartoum, British Civil Secretary Sir James Robertson told the Legislative Assembly today Egypt's cancellation of the 1899 condominium agreement was invalid. The agreement set up joint British-Egyptian control of the Sudan, which Egypt now claims as hers alone.

Would Give Self-Rule

Egypt has said she would give the Sudan self-rule under the Egyptian crown, with Egypt retaining control of defense, finance and foreign affairs. From the British side, Robertson today promised the Sudanese "a full self-governing constitution" by the end of next year.

Robertson indicated, however, that Britain also plans restrictions, at least at first, on Sudanese independence. The constitution, he told the assembly, would satisfy the "immediate aspirations" of the Sudanese.

The Egyptians talked just as determinedly. Salan El Din in a fiery speech last night said Egypt must prepare for a "long struggle" against the British she is seeking to oust from the Suez Canal zone and the Sudan.

He spoke before the National Pact Committee, organized after Egypt broke off her 1936 treaty with Britain 11 days ago.

Must Use Arms

The foreign minister said "we must use the arms the British always have used against us," adding, "our fight will require all our energies and perhaps blood. We are not against a weak enemy, but a strong one."

Underlining the foreign minister's words, Egyptian Royal Air Force jet planes were seen flying low over Cairo today. It was not immediately apparent what their mission was.

Al Ahram reported—without confirmation—that U. S. Ambassador Jefferson Caffery was acting as mediator between the Egyptians and British in an effort to help settle their dispute over the Suez area.

McCaffery was received in audience yesterday by King Farouk at the Montazeh Palace in Alexandria.

Caffery Confers

Caffery conferred later with British Minister M. J. Creswell in Cairo.

There was no official announcement of what was discussed at either meeting.

In the canal zone British warships foiled an attempt by Egyptian authorities to deny British merchant ships transit through the waterway. The Egyptians refused them clearance. The British navy, backed up by its ships at either end of the canal entrance, authorized the merchantmen to go through.

Rail and road traffic also remained under tight British military control.

A British military spokesman said general quiet has prevailed throughout the canal zone over the past 24 hours.

He said, however, that there was growing labor unrest in the Suez area, because of the strained Anglo-Egyptian relations. Britains big ordnance depot at Tel El Kebir was hard hit by walkouts, he said, with only 40 per cent of the Egyptian workers reporting yesterday.

The spokesman said all Egyptian government schools in the zone would close after today on orders of the Egyptian interior minister.

Swift Push Takes Reds By Surprise

Nine Engines, 99 Cars Destroyed by Bombs —Lull Falls on Battle Fronts

Craft Is Struck, Falls and Burns — Pilot Believed Lost

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, Oct. 25 (AP)—Allied warplanes pounded the crippled North Korean rail system today in one of the war's most concentrated attacks.

Wave after wave of fighter bombers roared down on Red rolling stock caught out in the open. U. S. Fifth Air Force officers said the Reds were completely surprised and had no time to get their trains into the shelter of tunnels.

Nine locomotives and 99 railcars were destroyed. Nineteen locomotives and 129 cars were listed as damaged.

Three brief jet battles were recorded during the day. One Russian-made MIG-15 was damaged. There were no reports of allied losses.

One F-4-U Corsair crashed and burned in Red territory after being hit by ground fire. The air force said there was no chance the pilot survived.

Lull Reported on Fronts

A comparative lull fell across the battle fronts as truce talks resumed in Panmunjom.

There was some sharp action southeast of Kumsong on the central front. Tank-supported infantry seized a Communist-held hill despite strong Red resistance.

Doughboys stormed the high ground as American tanks hit the Chinese entrenched in their bunkers.

South of this peak, other allied foot soldiers maintained pressure against Chinese forces clinging to the tip of a high ridgeline mostly occupied by the allies.

Southwest of Kumsong a tank-infantry force probed almost a mile deep into Red defenses before turning back.

440 Destroyed in War

The locomotives destroyed brought the Fifth Air Force reported total to 440 for the entire war. In that time 545 have been damaged.

In other attacks UN planes cut rails in 54 places and damaged six bridges.

Ten MIG-15s made one firing pass at F-84 Thunderjets during the afternoon. They fled to their Manchurian base before any damage was inflicted to either side.

About 50 Russian-made MIG-15 jets jumped 31 American Sabre Jets flying cover for fighter-bombers in northwest Korea early this morning. One MIG was damaged in the 10-minute battle. There were no reports of Allied losses.

About the same time, two propellor-driven Corsairs and Marine Tigercat jets were attacked by about 20 MIGs. The U. S. Fifth Air Force said no damage was inflicted by either side.

The tank-infantry team on the central front encountered heavy small arms and automatic weapons fire and repulsed one light counterattack in its sortie near Kumsong.

Meanwhile 12 Million Consumers Are Minus Their Supplies

New York, Oct. 25 (AP)—Union and industry spokesmen said today there are prospects for an end by tomorrow morning of a strike that has cut off milk deliveries to the entire three-state metropolitan area.

The milkmen's strike has cut off supplies to about 12,000,000 consumers.

The prediction of a possible settlement came as negotiators met for second day, and as housewives and children rushed to queue up in grocery stores and processing plants in the scramble to get milk.

Representatives of both sides said they hoped an agreement could be reached in time to resume deliveries tomorrow morning.

Milk drivers and plant workers in New York city and surrounding counties, northern New Jersey and southwestern Connecticut, represented by the AFL Teamsters Union, walked out yesterday demanding a 20 per cent pay increase.

How long the supply on hand for over-the-counter deliveries would last was questionable. Upstate dairymen were diverting milk to local plants for processing

Area May Be Given by Two Sides to Agreement — No Reaction

Munsan, Korea, Oct. 25 (AP)—The United Nations today proposed a give-and-take compromise to set up a buffer zone across the wartorn Korean peninsula.

The UN proposal called for the allies to yield about 200 square miles of North Korea in the east, and for the Reds to give up a similar area in the west.

The buffer zone would be about 2½ miles wide and follow generally present battle lines.

The proposal was introduced in a subcommittee meeting in Panmunjom shortly after cease-fire negotiations were resumed by the main Red and allied teams, ending a 64-day breakdown in the parleys.

There was no immediate indication of Communist reaction. The Reds previously demanded a buffer zone along Parallel 38, old political boundary between North and South Korea.

Caution Is Voiced

Maj. Gen. Henry I. Hodes, subcommitteeman who presented the allied proposal, cautioned the Reds to accept it, or face a less favorable offer later. He pointed out that while talks were in recess, the allies had advanced their line many miles northward.

After the proposal, accompanied by detailed maps, was made to

Marine Morale Is Reported Low at Three Bases in U.S.

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—A Senate Armed Services subcommittee reported today it had found dissatisfaction and low morale among marines—particularly recalled reservists—at three bases.

"This was discouraging in view of the long history of high morale and esprit de corps of the marines," the group said. There was no immediate comment from the marine corps.

The three bases are El Toro and Camp Pendleton in California and Camp Lejeune in North Carolina.

The subcommittee criticized the navy and marine corps for what it called lavish use of men and money, in a report which also covered conditions at the Marine Corps Air Station, Qauntico, Va., the navy's amphibious base at Little Creek near Norfolk, Va. and the navy's submarine base, New London, Conn.

The preparedness subcommittee, headed by Senator Lyndon Johnson (D.-Tex.) was set up shortly after fighting broke out in Korea to keep an eye on the mobilization program. This was its 31st report; others have dealt with a wide variety of mobilization problems.

In general, the latest report praised the food, clothing supplies, instruction, medical care, housing and recreation facilities at the six training centers.

But in addition to reporting low morale at the three marine bases, the subcommittee was critical of what it called a "lack of cost consciousness" among officers at the six centers.

This factor "involves waste—

To Propose Federation

Paris, Oct. 25 (AP)—Foreign Minister Robert Schuman said today he will propose immediate political federation of Europe at the Council of Europe session next month. He said both U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson and British Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison approve the move which he will make at Strasbourg during the council session which opens Nov. 26.

waste in manpower and waste in money—and at this critical juncture the nation can afford neither," the subcommittee said.

As an example of low morale and waste of manpower, the report cited a staff sergeant, an inactive reservist recalled to duty, whose full time job at El Toro is to issue equipment at a golf course.

"It would be impossible to convince this man that he was really needed and that there was sufficent cause to recall him to active duty," the report said.

The senators recommended that the navy include in its fitness reports for officers a new category, "cost consciousness."

"An important factor in the determination of an officer's efficfency should be his demonstrated ability to conserve men, money and materials," the report said.

The subcommittee also rapped payment of hazardous-duty premiums at New London to administrative personnel who do not actually work or live aboard submarines. This extra pay amounts to 30 or 40 per cent of base salary.

However, the senators said the navy had moved promptly to stop this.

The subcommittee said its investigators had found that "many reserves were being used in jobs which certainly ought not to have justified asking a man to once again break up his home, family and career—when other men who have not served at all were available."

The dissatisfaction at the three marine bases" has arisen primarily from the fact that the unexpected outbreak of hostilities in Korea required the very rapid remobilization of men in the reserves," the report said.

willing to go along with the OPS on a requisition program to get supplies for the military, and operate it. Such a system was used during the last war. But department officials believe the job of getting military supplies could be done more simply merely by allowing the army to offer a price premium.

However, the department is reluctant to be drawn into a program which would attempt, to limit slaughter operations by individual packers. Officials hold the view that Congress banned such a program when it specifically prohibited the use of slaughter quotas.

Just what will come of the OPS proposal may be determined after Secretary of Agriculture Brannan returns to his office today from midwest.

Some department officials said they doubted Brannan would go along with a slaughter limitation program unless directed to do so by the White House.

It Might Be Rabies

Albany, Oct. 25 (AP) — Don't "doctor" cows that appear to be choking. Get professional assistance. That's the advice given farmers by the State Health Department. The department said yesterday that inabifity to swallow was one of the major symptoms of rabies and that farmers had been bitten by rabid cows while attempting to aid them.

Social Security Law Provisions

George J. Johnson, manager of the Kingston Social Security Office, submits the following article in the provisions of the Social Security Law:

Most self-employed people are now working under social security and are afforded the same benefits and protection that have long been enjoyed by employes in commerce and industry.

Recent changes in the social security law provided for coverage of most of the self-employed beginning January 1, 1951. Not included are farm operators, doctors, lawyers, and certain other professional groups. These persons may be covered by other provisions of the law, however, if they are employes, or if, in addition to their regular occupation, they are in self-employment work covered by the law. For example —a lawyer who is also in the insurance business.

Social security field offices throughout the country are now receiving many inquiries concerning the reporting of self-employment income and the payment of tax.

A self-employed person will report income for social security credit on a detachable portion of his final individual income tax return. The collector of internal revenue will forward this detached portion to the Social Security Administration where the income will be credited to the individual's account. Social Security tax of 2¼ per cent of the self-employment income will be paid in full to the collector of internal revenue at the time of making the final income tax report. Only $3,600 of self-employment income is taxable for any one year.

Persons having net earnings from self-employment of less than $400 in a taxable year are not considered as self-employed for social security purposes and are not covered by the new law.

The self-employed person will make his first contribution in 1952 when he files his income tax return for 1951. Each person not having a social security account number will need one at that time. Field offices are now issuing account numbers to the self-employed and a last minute delay may be avoided by obtaining account numbers now. Application forms may be obtained at local post offices or your social security field office, located in the Central Post Office Building, Broadway, Kingston, N. Y.

The U.S. Secret Service, Treasury Department, warns that there is more counterfeiting today than at any time in the past 10 years.

RUSSIA AND THE ATOM

Within hours after announcement that a second atomic explosion had occurred in Russia the statement was made in numerous government quarters that it was not a surprise. Naturally it was not; as a matter of fact some American officials had begun to wonder aloud, in recent months, why there had not been another explosion since the one announced in 1949. It is even possible that the Russian purpose in setting off the new explosion was to dispel any American thought that the atomic energy program might be lagging.

From the fact that this explosion has occurred and from what can be determined of its nature our own scientists may learn important things about the progress of atomic research in Russia. Equally important is the political significance. It is a reminder not only to America but to all the nations that Russia is still working on atomic weapons. There may have been some leaders among the various nations who had begun to believe the claim of the Russians that they were interested only in the peaceful uses of atomic energy. As far as we and the rest of the world know, an atomic explosion is useful only for military purposes.

The rest of the nations ought to be impressed, too, with the contrast between the manner of conducting an atomic test in Russia and that in America. We have made our plans for atomic tests known in advance, and representatives of other nations usually have been invited to observe them. The Russian tests have been planned and carried out in the deepest secrecy. Such contrasts will probably not be missed in other capitals.

CONSOLATION OF HOPE

Some persons adopt a hopeless attitude in the face of the turmoil and talk of war which surrounds us. They view the preparations nations are making everywhere for war as evidence that peace and brotherly love are merely idealistic dreams. They cite instances of dishonesty in high places as proof that man's moral sense is getting worse instead of better and they question whether the old truths and values are honored anywhere in our society.

The man of firm religious faith usually has the accompanying virtues of hope and charitable spirit. He is aware that the world is troubled, yet he himself has an objective and in the faith that he will reach it he creates a place of calm around him. His love of his fellowman does not blind him to the ways of evildoers nor does it allow him to excuse their deeds. But it does give him the patience to try to show by his own example that successful living includes gentleness and goodness.

The greatest comfort that a man of faith can have is hope, which is fortified by his love of neighbor and by his faith in God. He has an ever-present hope that all men will realize the greatness which they can achieve as men. Because he can himself love and forgive, he is always able to hope that other men will someday discover his secret for peace and contentment. His belief in prayer and good works keeps him from brooding over what seems to some others to be the hopelessness of the times. Through his example other may find the way, and his hopes may be realized.

A behavior specialist says that children are ignorant and inexperienced persons, but capable of learning what they are taught. Parents are likely to be more bothered by the things they learn which they were not taught.

It is suggested that paper money should have more color for ease of identification. We should be happy to have more of the plain green variety as long as it is identifiable as money.

With jobs and production booming along people seem to be making more money than ever before. And most are wondering where it goes more than ever before.

A man may regard a heavy weight as a burden or as an object which will help to build up his muscle and make him look and feel better.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THE 82ND CONGRESS

The first session of the 82nd Congress has ended in disorder and squabble because the President finds it difficult to accept the constitutional mechanism of separation of powers.

This Congress is in both its houses Democratic; yet, some of its committees have brought corruption and improprieties directly to the White House, thus placing the President, within a year of a presidential election, in a defensive position.

The same Congress, through the Russell and McCarran committees, both controlled by Democratic majorities, has discredited the President's management of foreign policy as well as the conduct of our war in Korea. And these same committees have placed the State Department in the awkward position of needing to defend its every act as well as its personnel.

It is significant that it has been Democrats, not Republicans, who have done this. Much is made of the attacks by Senator Joe McCarthy, but no matter what McCarthy has said, his utterances are mild compared to the data brought out before the Russell, Kefauver, McCarran and Fulbright committees.

During the past summer, I made a thorough study of the Russell Committee testimony, which, as you may recall, ran about 2,000,000 words. Part of my study has been published under the title "Out of Their Own Mouths." It is the China story as told by the witnesses before the Russell Committee and it definitely discredits the administration.

Now along comes Jesse Jones's book, "Fifty Billion Dollars," which is shocking, to say the least. Jesse Jones establishes by his testimony all that the Fulbright Committee brought out in its investigation of the RFC—and so much more that one wonders whether there are any decent men left in all this vast country. It is an astonishing tale of callous men who used their country to their own advantage. Jesse Jones has done his country a great service; the more the pity that it should have been necessary.

To get back to the 82nd Congress, the President faces the fact that on the verge of a presidential campaign he will not be able to curse the 82nd Congress as he did the 80th without attacking his own party. He cannot blame the Republicans for Kefauver's disclosures nor McCarran's. These are Democratic accomplishments.

The Jessup case is an example of the President's embarrassment. He had to stand by Philip Jessup or admit that the American policy in China had a Communist orientation.

But the record stands that a Senate subcommittee reported against Jessup's appointment to represent the United States at the United Nations. Then the Senate had to pass on 10 names and passed on nine. It dropped Jessup. It did not refuse to confirm him; it did not confirm him. It omitted him.

In a word, the President is given a chance to give Jessup an interim appointment, while Jessup's colleagues go to U.N. with a confirmed appointment. The President may have won this battle in a way, but he has wrecked the career of Philip Jessup, who has been made to lose face. How will Jessup explain to his colleagues at the United Nations that he was omitted by the Senate? What weight can his words carry? After all, these experts in government know that such an appointment as Jessup's requires, according to the Constition, senatorial confirmation.

Finally, the President, on the last day of this session of Congress, appointed General Mark Clark as the ambassador to the Vatican. General Clark is a man of distinction and has served his country well. He does not deserve to be made an object of controversy. Appointing a full ambassador to the Vatican is a controversial subject on which there is a division in the country.

I favor such an appointment at this time, but not the method by which it was done. The appointment should have been made when the Senate could have confirmed the appointment and left upon it no stigma of trickiness. As it is now, this maneuver stirs an altogether unnecessary quarrel between Catholic and Protestant citizens, all of which could have been avoided. Those who managed this episode were not smart and will regret it.

So this Congress takes its vacation. The members have gone home to be with their constituents for some months until January. Then they must come back to a most unpleasant battle with the President. He wants his way; the Democrats will not let him have it. They dare not let him have his way if each one of them is to be re-elected, which interests these senators and representatives.

TREATMENT OF LOW BACK PAIN

When we see an individual bent forward and, sometimes, with a list sideways, with an expression of pain on his face, it is usually (but not always) safe to say that he is suffering from a ruptured or herniated disc which got pushed out of its rightful position between two of the bones forming the spine. The commonest place in the spinal column for this to occur is between the last two of these bones in the small of the back.

In addition to the pain in lower part of the back, there is often intense pain (sciatica) down the back of the thigh and leg, sometimes extending to the heel. Pain in lower back and down the leg is caused by pressure on the nerves supplying lower back and leg.

While injury to the back from lifting or making a misstep is the commonest cause of low back pain and sciatica, infection from teeth, tonsils, gums, gall badder, large intestine, is also a common cause.

As stated before, when the pain in back and hip is more painful while the patient is at rest, infection is believed to be the cause. When the pain is more severe when the patient is up and around, injury is more likely to be the cause as with ruptured disc, due to heavy lifting, a blow on the head or shoulder, or a fall as in football.

In Clinical Symposia, Dr. Abraham Kaplan, Clinical Professor of Neuro-Surgery, New York Polyclinic Medical School and Hospital, New York city, states that there are four fluctuating phases in the development of ruptured intervertebral discs.

1. Irritation. Back pain with or without sciatica is the outstanding symptom, with spasm of the muscles in back which keep spine erect, a tilt or list of the trunk and partial disability. Bed rest with a board under mattress and local heat gives relief. If not, then there is

2. Compression. Disc gets displaced and there is pressure on the nerve root and ligaments. Back pain may lessen but sciatica increases and is aggravated by coughing and sneezing or increased activity.

3. Partial paralysis from increased pressure from disc on nerve and ligaments.

4. Paralysis—disc is so large and so situated that it acts like a growth, pressing so heavily on nerve roots that paralysis of legs occurs.

Treatment: In most cases bed rest, heat, massage and wearing of snug abdominal belt brings relief. If no relief from this treatment, operation to remove the disc is performed.

"Did You Hear Anything?"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — When British Chancellor of the Exchequer Hugh Gaitskell was in Washington recently, he held a private and doleful conference with high U. S. officials which presaged the chief problem facing England after the elections.

The chancellor didn't put it that way, but the problem will be just the same no matter who wins in today's voting.

What he told Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, Undersecretary of State Webb, Defense Mobilizer Wilson, Eric Johnston and others was that England was losing its sterling reserves at an alarming rate.

The pound sterling, he said, was being drained out of England so rapidly that it was now at the lowest point in history—at that time only £1,600,000,000. Since then it has become worse.

Gaitskell did not ask for a loan. In fact, he didn't ask for anything except the advance of 800,000 tons of steel to be paid back later. He attributed the drain of sterling reserves to the competition of German and Japanese trade. Goods from these two countries have come into the international market in the last year or so and cut down British markets.

Following today's elections, it is certain that the new government will have to take some drastic monetary steps, and U. S. experts figure that one of them may be a loan from us of around $2,000,000,000; another could be further devaluation of the pound, which in 1949 was cut from $4.03 to $2.80. A third alternative could be curtailment of British rearmament.

Washington Pipeline

President Truman was upset by Secretary of Commerce Sawyer's speech in Columbus, O., attacking government spending. The speech was a direct slap at the Truman budget and was not cleared with the White House. It's regarded as a dare to the President by his secretary of commerce to fire him. (Sawyer and Defense Mobilizer Wilson have had a row over materials controls, which Sawyer lost.) . . . If you count up all the pages of the congressional record and compare words with deeds, the wordiest member of Congress turns out to be Senator Malone of Nevada . . . Gen. Mark Clark's appointment to the Vatican stirred up such religious fervor that some senators even refused to say "no comment." Senators Maybank of South Carolina and Hayden of Arizona pleaded with newsmen that "no comment" might be misinterpreted. They begged reporters to forget they had asked them about the Vatican appointment.

Two-Way Tax Job

Here is another chapter in the long history of income-tax developments which ought to be investigated. This one pertains to western Massachusetts where Clifford Akey recently resigned as deputy collector. Previously, Denis Delaney was indicted as collector of internal revenue for Massachusetts.

This column has unearthed information that Akey, who has now switched from income taxes to acting postmaster at Greenfield, Mass., has been operating a tax-counseling business at the very same time he was collecting people's taxes. Akey also operated an insurance business on the side and some clients who received tax advice seemed to have followed the natural impulse to take out insurance policies with the tax collector's company.

Queried on the telephone, Mr. Akey told this story: He had helped his neighbors with their tax returns when he first joined internal revenue in 1941, he said, but when it took too much of his time, he had turned his tax-counseling business over to his secretary, Miss Elizabeth Vitro.

Significantly, Miss Vitro continued to be Akey's secretary in his insurance business, while also acting as tax-counselor for various people who had income-tax problems.

Akey admitted that some of his insurance policy holders may also have received tax advice from Miss Vitro, but denied that they got their taxes fixed in return for buying insurance.

However, he admitted that the Mohawk Music Corporation, which is still under tax investigation, had had its tax returns handled by his secretary, though he maintained the investigation started after he left office.

Frank Miss Vitro

Miss Vitro, when interviewed, was more fortright. She said she had been working for Mr. Akey and the Akey Insurance Company for eleven years and during most of that time had given tax advice to about 50 to 100 people a year. She frankly admitted that most of her customers also had insurance with Akey's company, but claimed none of the taxpayers got off any easier for buying insurance.

Miss Vitro was also quite frank about having handled the tax returns of the Mohawk Music Company, but she gave information contrary to Akey's as to who had started the Mohawk tax investigation. Akey claimed it was started after he left the collector's office, but Miss Vitro said he had started it.

The music firm, she said, had taken out insurance on its plate-glass windows and another small policy, neither one amounting to much.

Note—In the winter of 1949, this column first began calling attention to then little-known income-tax scandals, pointing out that while the great majority of civil service revenue agents were honest, political corruption had crept in at the top. That condition still prevails. Thousands of career revenue agents are trying to do a conscientious job, while certain political appointees sabotage their work. The most important move to clean up tax collection is to take internal revenue completely out of politics.

Under the Dome

Congress comes in for a lot of criticism, but it's important to note that this Congress has just abolished tax-free exemption on its own expense accounts. This will cost congressmen $800 a year—at a time when all other salaries are going up. . . . Political pundits saiy it looks like a deal between Senator Taft and ex-Governor Stassen. Stassen will corral delegates in the northwest, but in the end turn them over to Taft. In return Stassen would get the VP spot or a top job in the cabinet. . . . Sen. Owen Brewster, Republican, is trying to persuade fellow Republicans in West Virginia to nominate ex-Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson, a Democrat, for senator next year. (The two have worked together sub rosa for a long time as friends of Pan American Airway). . . . Senate investigators, checking reports of widespread gambling by servicemen, around Great Falls, Mont., found a great deal of prostitution, but not much gambling.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Oct. 24—The decadent Herald Tribune, which owes its debility to its sly connivance with forces which it outwardly pretends to oppose, recently has undertaken to rehabilitate Henry Wallace. The motive is not so much to establish for this queer creature a character which he never had as to vindicate the Herald Tribune.

Joe McCarthy recently took rambunctious joy in exposing Joe Barnes, who was for a long time the head of the cell in the H-T's weird political house, and this undoubtedly rattled the creaking hulk of a paper that had been great in its time. In this instance, A. G. Barmine, a former general of the Soviet Army, testified that Barnes was described by Gen. Jan Birzin, the chief of the Soviet military intelligence, as "our man." Barnes was foreign editor of the Herald Tribune for about six years, convoyed Wendell Willkie around, Russia, married the ex-wife of his rich personal patron, Frederick Vanderbilt Field, a notorius Red who is now in prison, and is now an editor of Simon and Schuster, publishers of books, whose clients may therefore consider themselves to be on warning. The works then began to clank in the H-T in a laborious effort to prove that Henry Wallace never favored the Chinese Reds. Therefore, McCarthy must be a liar, and Barnes and the H-T victims of "McCarthyism."

The business of whipping out of the government's files selected old confidential documents to decontaminate fakers and culprits of the traitorous Roosevelt regime is not quite a monopoly.

I have a large file myself which proves that Wallace was an ass in his infatuation with a serio-comic oriental religious faker named Nicholas Roerich and an underhanded double-crosser in his abuse of three legitimate American scientific employes of the Department of Agriculture, two of whom were sent to Asia by Wallace to help Roerich gather grass seed.

Back in 1947 I broke the goofy guru letters, which had been kicking around in politics for years, because the Republicans lacked the courage to use them, and flatly stated that Bubblehead Wallace was the author. They were so idiotic that the thought of his having been vice president during more than three years of war was terrifying.

When Wallace held his own "convention" to nominate himself as the candidate of the Kremlin and the American Communists in Philadelphia in 1948, I laid for him at his "press conference" and belted him out with the question whether he had written this imbecilic slush. He refused to answer, knowing that if he lied I would knock him dead with the proof.

Briefly, Wallace threw down three good Americans because they had discovered a disgraceful situation of his own doing. He never made them whole nor apologized. Moreover, he finally broke with Roerich, whom he had called his guru in the batch of goofy correspondence which was handled through a weird lamasery on Riverside Drive, turned against the guru, and, to save himself from an expose, conspired to keep the guru at bay in India. The official documents show that Wallace was a scheming, selfish double-crosser and absolutely ruthless in trampling on subordinates to protect himself.

Wallace fell in with Louis L. Horch, a professional New York money-changer, who had hit it rich and Horch, as crazy as a fox, confidentially told him that Roerich, the guru, was God Almighty. Horch told me he believed this himself for a while, but came out of the ether in time to hit a few smart licks in a fight over the ownership of the sky-scraping Joss-house on Riverside Drive. Meanwhile Wallace gave Horsch several very influental jobs in the surplus commodity end of the Department of Agriculture. Horch had as much influence over bubblehead Wallace as the guru himself and finally landed in the Department of Commerce, again under Wallace, as regional director of exports from the port of New York, including the Jersey side. Horch always built up his own personal network of employes, after the expose of the goofy guru letters in 1947, and the dismissal from the Department of Commerce by Harry Truman, Horch still hung on for a time. Finally, however, he resigned but Congress never has inquired what exports went to what countries during Horch's administration.

Speaking of official documents, here is a demonstration of underhanded, disloyal, humiliating treatment of decent American scientists by this moon-gazing wet-lip:

"Dear Professor Roerich: Supplementing my cable of this week recalling from the expedition Dr. MacMillan and Mr. Stevens, I am writing to express to you once again my regret and indignation at the insubordination of these two. I feel that their actions have placed in jeopardy the success of the expedition as well as the safety of its members. I have written to the American consuls at Tokyo and Harbdin as well as Colonel Saito at Hailar and enclose copies for your information."

These letters said: "Dr. H. G. Macmillan and Mr. J. L. Stephens, who have been in Manchuria as botanist and assistant botanist of the expedition under the leadership of Professor Nicholas Roerich, have been recalled for insubordination and failure to carry out instructions. I trust there has been no inconvenience occasioned you through any misinformation given you by the botanists."

Macmillan and Stephens were driven almost nuts by the guru's fantastic self-importance. They were real Americans and here was this weird character with a two-legged beard of straggling strands who affected a hop-joint kimono, holding court and handing out a decoration consisting of a design of three balls, and raising hell wherever he went in the Orient. His citizenship was vague but he had been born in Russia and appeared to have played with both the Communists and the White Russians. And yet Wallace made him head of the show and threw down Macmillan and Stephens because they did their professional, patriotic best in spite of his nuisance.

Moreover, Wallace removed Dr. Knowles A. Ryerson from his position as chief of the Bureau of Plant Industry just because Roerich whined that Macmillan and Stephens were conspiring against him. Bubblehead got scared when a scandal seemed imminent and tried to shut Roerich's mouth with a cable dated Sept. 23, 1935, which reached him in India. It said: "There must be no quoting of correspondence or other violation of departmental publicity regulations."

Finally the slob wrote to Consul General Garrell to whom he previously had written his dirty aspersions on the conduct of Macmillan and Stephens:

"Referring to my letter of a year ago regarding Dr. H. G. Macmillan and Mr. J. L. Stephens and Professor Roerich, much information has come to my attention which causes me to change my opinion regarding the Roerich activities."

Also on the quiet, he wrote Horch at the joss house on Riverside Drive on Dec. 23, 1935 that "it became increasingly obvious that the Roerichs were interested in other things than the collection of grasses and that these interests might cause the United States embarrassment. In 1934 we gave the Roerichs the benefit of the doubt but we have become convinced that the Roerich activities were such that their expeditionary activities should have been terminated at that time."

The Lamasery layout was a creepy, furtive concern and Horch was one of the most mysterious figures in the whole New Deal for years. Yet he got away absolutely and Congress never took even a glance at his doings or the source of his strange powers over Bubblehead Wallace.

RUSSIA AND THE ATOM

Within hours after announcement that a second atomic explosion had occurred in Russia the statement was made in numerous government quarters that it was not a surprise. Naturally it was not; as a matter of fact some American officials had begun to wonder aloud, in recent months, why there had not been another explosion since the one announced in 1949. It is even possible that the Russian purpose in setting off the new explosion was to dispel any American thought that the atomic energy program might be lagging.

From the fact that this explosion has occurred and from what can be determined of its nature our own scientists may learn important things about the progress of atomic research in Russia. Equally important is the political significance. It is a reminder not only to America but to all the nations that Russia is still working on atomic weapons. There may have been some leaders among the various nations who had begun to believe the claim of the Russians that they were interested only in the peaceful uses of atomic energy. As far as we and the rest of the world know, an atomic explosion is useful only for military purposes.

The rest of the nations ought to be impressed, too, with the contrast between the manner of conducting an atomic test in Russia and that in America. We have made our plans for atomic tests known in advance, and representatives of other nations usually have been invited to observe them. The Russian tests have been planned and carried out in the deepest secrecy. Such contrasts will probably not be missed in other capitals.

CONSOLATION OF HOPE

Some persons adopt a hopeless attitude in the face of the turmoil and talk of war which surrounds us. They view the preparations nations are making everywhere for war as evidence that peace and brotherly love are merely idealistic dreams. They cite instances of dishonesty in high places as proof that man's moral sense is getting worse instead of better and they question whether the old truths and values are honored anywhere in our society.

The man of firm religious faith usually has the accompanying virtues of hope and charitable spirit. He is aware that the world is troubled, yet he himself has an objective and in the faith that he will reach it he creates a place of calm around him. His love of his fellowman does not blind him to the ways of evildoers nor does it allow him to excuse their deeds. But it does give him the patience to try to show by his own example that successful living includes gentleness and goodness.

The greatest comfort that a man of faith can have is hope, which is fortified by his love of neighbor and by his faith in God. He has an ever-present hope that all men will realize the greatness which they can achieve as men. Because he can himself love and forgive, he is always able to hope that other men will someday discover his secret for peace and contentment. His belief in prayer and good works keeps him from brooding over what seems to some others to be the hopelessness of the times. Through his example other may find the way, and his hopes may be realized.

A behavior specialist says that children are ignorant and inexperienced persons, but capable of learning what they are taught. Parents are likely to be more bothered by the things they learn which they were not taught.

It is suggested that paper money should have more color for ease of identification. We should be happy to have more of the plain green variety as long as it is identifiable as money.

With jobs and production booming along people seem to be making more money than ever before. And most are wondering where it goes more than ever before.

A man may regard a heavy weight as a burden or as an object which will help to build up his muscle and make him look and feel better.

'These Days'

THE 82ND CONGRESS

The first session of the 82nd Congress has ended in disorder and squabble because the President finds it difficult to accept the constitutional mechanism of separation of powers.

This Congress is in both its houses Democratic; yet, some of its committees have brought corruption and improprieties directly to the White House, thus placing the President, within a year of a presidential election, in a defensive position.

The same Congress, through the Russell and McCarran committees, both controlled by Democratic majorities, has discredited the President's management of foreign policy as well as the conduct of our war in Korea. And these same committees have placed the State Department in the awkward position of needing to defend its every act as well as its personnel.

It is significant that it has been Democrats, not Republicans, who have done this. Much is made of the attacks by Senator Joe McCarthy, but no matter what McCarthy has said, his utterances are mild compared to the data brought out before the Russell, Kefauver, McCarran and Fulbright committees.

During the past summer, I made a thorough study of the Russell Committee testimony, which, as you may recall, ran about 2,000,000 words. Part of my study has been published under the title "Out of Their Own Mouths." It is the China story as told by the witnesses before the Russell Committee and it definitely discredits the administration.

Now along comes Jesse Jones's book, "Fifty Billion Dollars," which is shocking, to say the least. Jesse Jones establishes by his testimony all that the Fulbright Committee brought out in its investigation of the RFC—and so much more that one wonders whether there are any decent men left in all this vast country. It is an astonishing tale of callous men who used their country to their own advantage. Jesse Jones has done his country a great service; the more the pity that it should have been necessary.

To get back to the 82nd Congress, the President faces the fact that on the verge of a presidential campaign he will not be able to curse the 82nd Congress as he did the 80th without attacking his own party. He cannot blame the Republicans for Kefauver's disclosures nor McCarran's. These are Democratic accomplishments.

The Jessup case is an example of the President's embarrassment. He had to stand by Philip Jessup or admit that the American policy in China had a Communist orientation.

But the record stands that a Senate subcommittee reported against Jessup's appointment to represent the United States at the United Nations. Then the Senate had to pass on 10 names and passed on nine. It dropped Jessup. It did not refuse to confirm him; it did not confirm him. It omitted him.

In a word, the President is given a chance to give Jessup an interim appointment, while Jessup's colleagues go to U.N. with a confirmed appointment. The President may have won this battle in a way, but he has wrecked the career of Philip Jessup, who has been made to lose face. How will Jessup explain to his colleagues at the United Nations that he was omitted by the Senate? What weight can his words carry? After all, these experts in government know that such an appointment as Jessup's requires, according to the Constition, senatorial confirmation.

Finally, the President, on the last day of this session of Congress, appointed General Mark Clark as the ambassador to the Vatican. General Clark is a man of distinction and has served his country well. He does not deserve to be made an object of controversy. Appointing a full ambassador to the Vatican is a controversial subject on which there is a division in the country.

I favor such an appointment at this time, but not the method by which it was done. The appointment should have been made when the Senate could have confirmed the appointment and left upon it no stigma of trickiness. As it is now, this maneuver stirs an altogether unnecessary quarrel between Catholic and Protestant citizens, all of which could have been avoided. Those who managed this episode were not smart and will regret it.

So this Congress takes its vacation. The members have gone home to be with their constituents for some months until January. Then they must come back to a most unpleasant battle with the President. He wants his way; the Democrats will not let him have it. They dare not let him have his way if each one of them is to be re-elected, which interests these senators and representatives.

That Body of Yours

TREATMENT OF LOW BACK PAIN

When we see an individual bent forward and, sometimes, with a list sideways, with an expression of pain on his face, it is usually (but not always) safe to say that he is suffering from a ruptured or herniated disc which got pushed out of its rightful position between two of the bones forming the spine. The commonest place in the spinal column for this to occur is between the last two of these bones in the small of the back.

In addition to the pain in lower part of the back, there is often intense pain (sciatica) down the back of the thigh and leg, sometimes extending to the heel. Pain in lower back and down the leg is caused by pressure on the nerves supplying lower back and leg.

While injury to the back from lifting or making a misstep is the commonest cause of low back pain and sciatica, infection from teeth, tonsils, gums, gall badder, large intestine, is also a common cause.

As stated before, when the pain in back and hip is more painful while the patient is at rest, infection is believed to be the cause. When the pain is more severe when the patient is up and around, injury is more likely to be the cause as with ruptured disc, due to heavy lifting, a blow on the head or shoulder, or a fall as in football.

In Clinical Symposia, Dr. Abraham Kaplan, Clinical Professor of Neuro-Surgery, New York Polyclinic Medical School and Hospital, New York city, states that there are four fluctuating phases in the development of ruptured intervertebral discs.

1. Irritation. Back pain with or without sciatica is the outstanding symptom, with spasm of the muscles in back which keep spine erect, a tilt or list of the trunk and partial disability. Bed rest with a board under mattress and local heat gives relief. If not, then there is

2. Compression. Disc gets displaced and there is pressure on the nerve root and ligaments. Back pain may lessen but sciatica increases and is aggravated by coughing and sneezing or increased activity.

3. Partial paralysis from increased pressure from disc on nerve and ligaments.

4. Paralysis—disc is so large and so situated that it acts like a growth, pressing so heavily on nerve roots that paralysis of legs occurs.

Treatment: In most cases bed rest, heat, massage and wearing of snug abdominal belt brings relief. If no relief from this treatment, operation to remove the disc is performed.

"Did You Hear Anything?"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — When British Chancellor of the Exchequer Hugh Gaitskell was in Washington recently, he held a private and doleful conference with high U. S. officials which presaged the chief problem facing England after the elections.

The chancellor didn't put it that way, but the problem will be just the same no matter who wins in today's voting.

What he told Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, Undersecretary of State Webb, Defense Mobilizer Wilson, Eric Johnston and others was that England was losing its sterling reserves at an alarming rate.

The pound sterling, he said, was being drained out of England so rapidly that it was now at the lowest point in history—at that time only £1,600,000,000. Since then it has become worse.

Gaitskell did not ask for a loan. In fact, he didn't ask for anything except the advance of 800,000 tons of steel to be paid back later. He attributed the drain of sterling reserves to the competition of German and Japanese trade. Goods from these two countries have come into the international market in the last year or so and cut down British markets.

Following today's elections, it is certain that the new government will have to take some drastic monetary steps, and U. S. experts figure that one of them may be a loan from us of around $2,000,000,000; another could be further devaluation of the pound, which in 1949 was cut from $4.03 to $2.80. A third alternative could be curtailment of British rearmament.

Washington Pipeline

President Truman was upset by Secretary of Commerce Sawyer's speech in Columbus, O., attacking government spending. The speech was a direct slap at the Truman budget and was not cleared with the White House. It's regarded as a dare to the President by his secretary of commerce to fire him. (Sawyer and Defense Mobilizer Wilson have had a row over materials controls, which Sawyer lost.) . . . If you count up all the pages of the congressional record and compare words with deeds, the wordiest member of Congress turns out to be Senator Malone of Nevada . . . Gen. Mark Clark's appointment to the Vatican stirred up such religious fervor that some senators even refused to say "no comment." Senators Maybank of South Carolina and Hayden of Arizona pleaded with newsmen that "no comment" might be misinterpreted. They begged reporters to forget they had asked them about the Vatican appointment.

Two-Way Tax Job

Here is another chapter in the long history of income-tax developments which ought to be investigated. This one pertains to western Massachusetts where Clifford Akey recently resigned as deputy collector. Previously, Denis Delaney was indicted as collector of internal revenue for Massachusetts.

This column has unearthed information that Akey, who has now switched from income taxes to acting postmaster at Greenfield, Mass., has been operating a tax-counseling business at the very same time he was collecting people's taxes. Akey also operated an insurance business on the side and some clients who received tax advice seemed to have followed the natural impulse to take out insurance policies with the tax collector's company.

Queried on the telephone, Mr. Akey told this story: He had helped his neighbors with their tax returns when he first joined internal revenue in 1941, he said, but when it took too much of his time, he had turned his tax-counseling business over to his secretary, Miss Elizabeth Vitro.

Significantly, Miss Vitro continued to be Akey's secretary in his insurance business, while also acting as tax-counselor for various people who had income-tax problems.

Akey admitted that some of his insurance policy holders may also have received tax advice from Miss Vitro, but denied that they got their taxes fixed in return for buying insurance.

However, he admitted that the Mohawk Music Corporation, which is still under tax investigation, had had its tax returns handled by his secretary, though he maintained the investigation started after he left office.

Frank Miss Vitro

Miss Vitro, when interviewed, was more fortright. She said she had been working for Mr. Akey and the Akey Insurance Company for eleven years and during most of that time had given tax advice to about 50 to 100 people a year. She frankly admitted that most of her customers also had insurance with Akey's company, but claimed none of the taxpayers got off any easier for buying insurance.

Miss Vitro was also quite frank about having handled the tax returns of the Mohawk Music Company, but she gave information contrary to Akey's as to who had started the Mohawk tax investigation. Akey claimed it was started after he left the collector's office, but Miss Vitro said he had started it.

The music firm, she said, had taken out insurance on its plate-glass windows and another small policy, neither one amounting to much.

Note—In the winter of 1949, this column first began calling attention to then little-known income-tax scandals, pointing out that while the great majority of civil service revenue agents were honest, political corruption had crept in at the top. That condition still prevails. Thousands of career revenue agents are trying to do a conscientious job, while certain political appointees sabotage their work. The most important move to clean up tax collection is to take internal revenue completely out of politics.

Under the Dome

Congress comes in for a lot of criticism, but it's important to note that this Congress has just abolished tax-free exemption on its own expense accounts. This will cost congressmen $800 a year—at a time when all other salaries are going up. . . . Political pundits saiy it looks like a deal between Senator Taft and ex-Governor Stassen. Stassen will corral delegates in the northwest, but in the end turn them over to Taft. In return Stassen would get the VP spot or a top job in the cabinet. . . . Sen. Owen Brewster, Republican, is trying to persuade fellow Republicans in West Virginia to nominate ex-Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson, a Democrat, for senator next year. (The two have worked together sub rosa for a long time as friends of Pan American Airway). . . . Senate investigators, checking reports of widespread gambling by servicemen, around Great Falls, Mont., found a great deal of prostitution, but not much gambling.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Oct. 24—The decadent Herald Tribune, which owes its debility to its sly connivance with forces which it outwardly pretends to oppose, recently has undertaken to rehabilitate Henry Wallace. The motive is not so much to establish for this queer creature a character which he never had as to vindicate the Herald Tribune.

Joe McCarthy recently took rambunctious joy in exposing Joe Barnes, who was for a long time the head of the cell in the H-T's weird political house, and this undoubtedly rattled the creaking hulk of a paper that had been great in its time. In this instance, A. G. Barmine, a former general of the Soviet Army, testified that Barnes was described by Gen. Jan Birzin, the chief of the Soviet military intelligence, as "our man." Barnes was foreign editor of the Herald Tribune for about six years, convoyed Wendell Willkie around, Russia, married the ex-wife of his rich personal patron, Frederick Vanderbilt Field, a notorius Red who is now in prison, and is now an editor of Simon and Schuster, publishers of books, whose clients may therefore consider themselves to be on warning. The works then began to clank in the H-T in a laborious effort to prove that Henry Wallace never favored the Chinese Reds. Therefore, McCarthy must be a liar, and Barnes and the H-T victims of "McCarthyism."

The business of whipping out of the government's files selected old confidential documents to decontaminate fakers and culprits of the traitorous Roosevelt regime is not quite a monopoly.

I have a large file myself which proves that Wallace was an ass in his infatuation with a serio-comic oriental religious faker named Nicholas Roerich and an underhanded double-crosser in his abuse of three legitimate American scientific employes of the Department of Agriculture, two of whom were sent to Asia by Wallace to help Roerich gather grass seed.

Back in 1947 I broke the goofy guru letters, which had been kicking around in politics for years, because the Republicans lacked the courage to use them, and flatly stated that Bubblehead Wallace was the author. They were so idiotic that the thought of his having been vice president during more than three years of war was terrifying.

When Wallace held his own "convention" to nominate himself as the candidate of the Kremlin and the American Communists in Philadelphia in 1948, I laid for him at his "press conference" and belted him out with the question whether he had written this imbecilic slush. He refused to answer, knowing that if he lied I would knock him dead with the proof.

Briefly, Wallace threw down three good Americans because they had discovered a disgraceful situation of his own doing. He never made them whole nor apologized. Moreover, he finally broke with Roerich, whom he had called his guru in the batch of goofy correspondence which was handled through a weird lamasery on Riverside Drive, turned against the guru, and, to save himself from an expose, conspired to keep the guru at bay in India. The official documents show that Wallace was a scheming, selfish double-crosser and absolutely ruthless in trampling on subordinates to protect himself.

Wallace fell in with Louis L. Horch, a professional New York money-changer, who had hit it rich and Horch, as crazy as a fox, confidentially told him that Roerich, the guru, was God Almighty. Horch told me he believed this himself for a while, but came out of the ether in time to hit a few smart licks in a fight over the ownership of the sky-scraping Joss-house on Riverside Drive. Meanwhile Wallace gave Horsch several very influental jobs in the surplus commodity end of the Department of Agriculture. Horch had as much influence over bubblehead Wallace as the guru himself and finally landed in the Department of Commerce, again under Wallace, as regional director of exports from the port of New York, including the Jersey side. Horch always built up his own personal network of employes, after the expose of the goofy guru letters in 1947, and the dismissal from the Department of Commerce by Harry Truman, Horch still hung on for a time. Finally, however, he resigned but Congress never has inquired what exports went to what countries during Horch's administration.

Speaking of official documents, here is a demonstration of underhanded, disloyal, humiliating treatment of decent American scientists by this moon-gazing wet-lip:

"Dear Professor Roerich: Supplementing my cable of this week recalling from the expedition Dr. MacMillan and Mr. Stevens, I am writing to express to you once again my regret and indignation at the insubordination of these two. I feel that their actions have placed in jeopardy the success of the expedition as well as the safety of its members. I have written to the American consuls at Tokyo and Harbdin as well as Colonel Saito at Hailar and enclose copies for your information."

These letters said: "Dr. H. G. Macmillan and Mr. J. L. Stephens, who have been in Manchuria as botanist and assistant botanist of the expedition under the leadership of Professor Nicholas Roerich, have been recalled for insubordination and failure to carry out instructions. I trust there has been no inconvenience occasioned you through any misinformation given you by the botanists."

Macmillan and Stephens were driven almost nuts by the guru's fantastic self-importance. They were real Americans and here was this weird character with a two-legged beard of straggling strands who affected a hop-joint kimono, holding court and handing out a decoration consisting of a design of three balls, and raising hell wherever he went in the Orient. His citizenship was vague but he had been born in Russia and appeared to have played with both the Communists and the White Russians. And yet Wallace made him head of the show and threw down Macmillan and Stephens because they did their professional, patriotic best in spite of his nuisance.

Moreover, Wallace removed Dr. Knowles A. Ryerson from his position as chief of the Bureau of Plant Industry just because Roerich whined that Macmillan and Stephens were conspiring against him. Bubblehead got scared when a scandal seemed imminent and tried to shut Roerich's mouth with a cable dated Sept. 23, 1935, which reached him in India. It said: "There must be no quoting of correspondence or other violation of departmental publicity regulations."

Finally the slob wrote to Consul General Garrell to whom he previously had written his dirty aspersions on the conduct of Macmillan and Stephens:

"Referring to my letter of a year ago regarding Dr. H. G. Macmillan and Mr. J. L. Stephens and Professor Roerich, much information has come to my attention which causes me to change my opinion regarding the Roerich activities."

Also on the quiet, he wrote Horch at the joss house on Riverside Drive on Dec. 23, 1935 that "it became increasingly obvious that the Roerichs were interested in other things than the collection of grasses and that these interests might cause the United States embarrassment. In 1934 we gave the Roerichs the benefit of the doubt but we have become convinced that the Roerich activities were such that their expeditionary activities should have been terminated at that time."

The Lamasery layout was a creepy, furtive concern and Horch was one of the most mysterious figures in the whole New Deal for years. Yet he got away absolutely and Congress never took even a glance at his doings or the source of his strange powers over Bubblehead Wallace.

So They Say...

Reactionaries (as Iran), I fear, are their own worst enemies. For there comes a point at which the foreign goose will not lay any more golden eggs, while their own goose will not lay any eggs at all. To put it bluntly, the goose will be cooked.—Sir Gladwyn Jebb, chief British delegate to UN.

India Buys Tractors

New Delhi (AP) — India in 1950-51 bought from the United States 60 tractors with spare parts, agricultural implements and transport vehicles through the $1,162,163 loan from the International Bank, it was officially announced here. During the preceding year, India obtained 180 tractors. Esopus Legion Will Inaugurate Membership Drive

Town of Esopus Post, 1298, American Legion, will inaugurate its 1952 membership campaign with a meeting of the membership committee on Tuesday evening, October 30, at the Post Home, Legion Court, Port Ewen.

Realizing that to meet the membership quota of the Post, as set up by the Department of New York and the Ulster County Organization, Commander Roger Mabie has appointed a membership committee, with Past Commander P. J. Beichert as chairman. There will be about 25 members on the committee. Two divisions will be organized to be known as the "Blues" and the "Golds," comprised of six teams of two members each. Citations from National Headquarters for individual efforts, as well as prizes for team and division will be awarded at the conclusion of the campaign.

It is planned to extend the campaign over a period of a month, from the 1st of November to the 1st of December. Report meetings will be held during the course of the month with checkups on the progress of the campaign. One of the aims of the campaign is to make sure that every veteran, eligible for the Legion, who lives in the Town of Esopus, will be asked personally to become a member of Town of Esopus Post. The committee has already been active in securing as far as possible, a list of veterans living in the Town of Esopus.

The meeting planned for Tuesday evening of next week will be in the form of a "Kick-off" dinner. Under the chairmanship of Edgar Maurer, a committee is arranging the details.

Edward P. Dwyer, a former Marine Corps major and a past department officer of the New Jersey Department, will be one of the speakers. Mr. Dwyer, who visited the post three years ago, impressed the members present so much that he has been asked to come back for this "Kick-off" dinner. He is the district manager for the Esso Standard Oil Company in this area.

Town of Esopus Post has come a long ways since its organization six years ago. It is a completely organized post to meet all the requirements of American Legion activity. Its beautifully situated home on Legion Court in Port Ewen, is completely equipped, fully paid for, and considered one of the finest Legion homes in this area for a post of its size. The average membership of the post over the past six years has been 175 members per year. The quota for 1952 is set at 210 members and that is the goal set for the November campaign.

He returned here after inspecting it because he owes "a great debt of gratitude to Malaya. He has been in the Malayan civil service for 24 years.

Esopus Legion Will Inaugurate Membership Drive

Town of Esopus Post, 1298, American Legion, will inaugurate its 1952 membership campaign with a meeting of the membership committee on Tuesday evening, October 30, at the Post Home, Legion Court, Port Ewen.

Realizing that to meet the membership quota of the Post, as set up by the Department of New York and the Ulster County Organization, Commander Roger Mabie has appointed a membership committee, with Past Commander P. J. Beichert as chairman. There will be about 25 members on the committee. Two divisions will be organized to be known as the "Blues" and the "Golds," comprised of six teams of two members each. Citations from National Headquarters for individual efforts, as well as prizes for team and division will be awarded at the conclusion of the campaign.

It is planned to extend the campaign over a period of a month, from the 1st of November to the 1st of December. Report meetings will be held during the course of the month with checkups on the progress of the campaign. One of the aims of the campaign is to make sure that every veteran, eligible for the Legion, who lives in the Town of Esopus, will be asked personally to become a member of Town of Esopus Post. The committee has already been active in securing as far as possible, a list of veterans living in the Town of Esopus.

The meeting planned for Tuesday evening of next week will be in the form of a "Kick-off" dinner. Under the chairmanship of Edgar Maurer, a committee is arranging the details.

Edward P. Dwyer, a former Marine Corps major and a past department officer of the New Jersey Department, will be one of the speakers. Mr. Dwyer, who visited the post three years ago, impressed the members present so much that he has been asked to come back for this "Kick-off" dinner. He is the district manager for the Esso Standard Oil Company in this area.

Town of Esopus Post has come a long ways since its organization six years ago. It is a completely organized post to meet all the requirements of American Legion activity. Its beautifully situated home on Legion Court in Port Ewen, is completely equipped, fully paid for, and considered one of the finest Legion homes in this area for a post of its size. The average membership of the post over the past six years has been 175 members per year. The quota for 1952 is set at 210 members and that is the goal set for the November campaign.

Rejects Life in Castle

Sereban, Malaya (AP) — One Britisher prefers working in Malaya to living in a castle in Ireland. M.S.F. Sheppard, British adviser for a Malayan state, inherited Cabra Castle, about 50 miles north of Dublin, upon the death of a cousin. The property includes 1,100 acres of land surrounding the castle. He returned here after inspecting it because he owes "a great debt of gratitude to Malaya. He has been in the Malayan civil service for 24 years.

Berlin 'Floor Map'

Berlin 'Floor Map'

Berlin, (AP) — The Russian sector of Berlin is drilling a lot of holes in the ground these days to find out how far is down. Faced with the urgent need to rebuild dwellings on the site of twisted bomb ruins, squadrons of workmen have been assigned to gather the data for a "floor map" of the downtown area. The map is designed to show how much weight an area can handle. It is a dire requirement in the central part of Berlin because the city is literally sitting on sand.

Members of the New Paltz Rod and Gun Club proved again last Sunday the right to be called champions when they out-shot eight five-man teams assembled at the club for the annual Sportsmen's Field Day of Ulster County. The team representing the local club consisted of Irving Kauder, Howard Mosher, Martin Pedersen, Edward Modieske and Norman Baker. First of the four favored teams to shoot, the team set the ante at 211 targets out of a possible 250. Glasco Rod and Gun Club Team 1 followed with a total of 210. The Rosendale Sportsmen's Association caused the local boys some concern but finally settled for 209. Thus the local team once more collected the title of Ulster County Championship Team. The team had won two cups previously, and each cup had to be won three years for permanent possession. This marks the seventh year the club has won the title and gives them a leg on the third cup. The second event of the day was the contest for the Ulster county individual championship. This event was taken by Howard Mosher, president of the local club, with a total of 48 out of a possible 50 targets. This plus the 44 targets broken for the team gave Mosher a total of 92 out of 100 for the day. Second high was M. Thiel of Milton with 46, followed by Horace Emerick of Saugerties with 45. In addition to the title of county champions and the cup, Mosher was awarded the traditional case of 500 shells. The cups will be engraved and awarded to the local shooters at the annual banquet of the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster county.

Last year the Women of Methodism contributed $392,280. This year the money will be given toward a new dormitory at Allen High School in Asheville, N. C. This school is for Negroes. It is a fine plant but needs enlargement. The second project also is for a dormitory building at Colegio Irene Toland in Matanzas, Cuba. The meeting of Oct. 26 at New Paltz will be held in the church parlor.

LOST ART . . . ALMOST—Rep. Richard Bolling (D., Mo.) sits at his Washington desk with autographed Thomas H. Benton lithographs that he rescued from congressional trash baskets. The pictures, depicting the suffering caused by the Kansas-Missouri flood of July, were sent by the artist to members of Congress who were working on flood relief measures. Bolling plans to auction off the salvaged art work, with all proceeds going to flood victims.

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL
A Column of Contrary Opinion

The earnings' reports coming to light these days reveal all too clearly what the impact of higher taxes and higher costs are doing to profits.

The break in the stock market last week has been ascribed to the drastic cut in earnings reported by the General Electric Company, while their sales reached record proportions. (It is always a moot question, by the way, what influences a sell-off in the market, and the General Electric statement was a convenient peg to hang the news on.)

As other similar reports are published, there will be a good deal of discussion about the "profitless prosperity" but inasmuch as these cut-backs in profits have been generally expected it would seem improbable that they will cause more than a temporary "alarm" among people.

After all, those who have been looking upon all the boom talk of the past several months with a "contrary eye" will simply see now unfolding what appeared probable before.

The Ruminator contended sometime ago that the proper designation of this particular boom was to call it a "wage-earners' boom" as that is what it would doubtless turn out to be. In other words, the wage-earners throughout the land will be prosperous, even with high taxes, but that countless businesses will find the going rough.

It seems to this writer that there are encouraging aspects to the developing situation, as well as a dark side.

Inflation, for one thing, is unlikely to get out of hand when pessimistic reports are being released, and when the stock market is reeling under the blows of the reports.

The worst development we could have under the multi-billion-dollar defense program would be a wild outbreak of speculation. If speculation were to become uncontrolled we would face another panic such as occurred in the fall of 1929. However, this is remote so long as both business and the public generally are quick to emphasize the poor aspects and tend to play down the bullish side.

It is a most interesting situation at the moment because "everyone" is expecting a lot of dire things to happen.

As we have written in the past week or two, it is common to pick up business and financial publications and to read that "a business recession may develop" and that "the stock market is going to have a severe spill."

If these bearish comments were uncommon, it would not be important.

But, the surprising thing is that "so many" observers are cautious and expecting trouble. If it should turn out that they are right in their expectancies of business and stock market setbacks it will be the first time that this observer has ever witnessed a majority opinion that proved correct. So it will be most informative to see what happens over coming weeks.

Our economic future is pretty well wrapped up for us in government "directives" and "controls." If it should happen that we experience a modest deflationary period (which has seemed contrarily probable) then it might be we should also see a reaction set in against the bureaucratic controls that are causing so much confusion today.

What the Ruminator would like to see (although what we would like seldom happens!) would be a slowing-down period of a few months — with business rocking along without any fireworks, and with the stock market quieting down (at present or somewhat lower levels) and with the price-inflation moderating. This is a lot to ask, obviously, but if this should happen there would be more and more pressure brought to bear upon Washington officials to let up on their controls and their attempts to manage everyone's business.

There is another question that will prove unsettling temporarily, if it comes off. That is a definite truce in Korea, together with a settlement of the unrest in the middle east. At first blush a real truce in Korea will be interpreted bearishly but it is my contrary guess that actually any trend toward peace, if it should develop, would be construed as bullish and not bearish for the long future. Looking far ahead, world peace—or even a world truce—is far more constructive than a continuation of a general cold war and isolated hot wars.

So, in sum, the Ruminator cannot work himself up into a lather of worry over current business reports.

The Japanese introduced the giant African land snail to their island outposts during World War 2 so their soldiers could have snail stew.

Members of the New Paltz Rod and Gun Club proved again last Sunday the right to be called champions when they out-shot eight five-man teams assembled at the club for the annual Sportsmen's Field Day of Ulster County. The team representing the local club consisted of Irving Kauder, Howard Mosher, Martin Pedersen, Edward Modieske and Norman Baker. First of the four favored teams to shoot, the team set the ante at 211 targets out of a possible 250. Glasco Rod and Gun Club Team 1 followed with a total of 210. The Rosendale Sportsmen's Association caused the local boys some concern but finally settled for 209. Thus the local team once more collected the title of Ulster County Championship Team. The team had won two cups previously, and each cup had to be won three years for permanent possession. This marks the seventh year the club has won the title and gives them a leg on the third cup. The second event of the day was the contest for the Ulster county individual championship. This event was taken by Howard Mosher, president of the local club, with a total of 48 out of a possible 50 targets. This plus the 44 targets broken for the team gave Mosher a total of 92 out of 100 for the day. Second high was M. Thiel of Milton with 46, followed by Horace Emerick of Saugerties with 45. In addition to the title of county champions and the cup, Mosher was awarded the traditional case of 500 shells. The cups will be engraved and awarded to the local shooters at the annual banquet of the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster county.

It is a fine plant but needs enlargement. The second project also is for a dormitory building at Colegio Irene Toland in Matanzas, Cuba. The meeting of Oct. 26 at New Paltz will be held in the church parlor.

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL
A Column of Contrary Opinion

The earnings' reports coming to light these days reveal all too clearly what the impact of higher taxes and higher costs are doing to profits.

The break in the stock market last week has been ascribed to the drastic cut in earnings reported by the General Electric Company, while their sales reached record proportions. (It is always a moot question, by the way, what influences a sell-off in the market, and the General Electric statement was a convenient peg to hang the news on.)

As other similar reports are published, there will be a good deal of discussion about the "profitless prosperity" but inasmuch as these cut-backs in profits have been generally expected it would seem improbable that they will cause more than a temporary "alarm" among people.

After all, those who have been looking upon all the boom talk of the past several months with a "contrary eye" will simply see now unfolding what appeared probable before.

The Ruminator contended sometime ago that the proper designation of this particular boom was to call it a "wage-earners' boom" as that is what it would doubtless turn out to be. In other words, the wage-earners throughout the land will be prosperous, even with high taxes, but that countless businesses will find the going rough.

It seems to this writer that there are encouraging aspects to the developing situation, as well as a dark side.

Inflation, for one thing, is unlikely to get out of hand when pessimistic reports are being released, and when the stock market is reeling under the blows of the reports.

The worst development we could have under the multi-billion-dollar defense program would be a wild outbreak of speculation. If speculation were to become uncontrolled we would face another panic such as occurred in the fall of 1929. However, this is remote so long as both business and the public generally are quick to emphasize the poor aspects and tend to play down the bullish side.

It is a most interesting situation at the moment because "everyone" is expecting a lot of dire things to happen.

As we have written in the past week or two, it is common to pick up business and financial publications and to read that "a business recession may develop" and that "the stock market is going to have a severe spill."

If these bearish comments were uncommon, it would not be important.

But, the surprising thing is that "so many" observers are cautious and expecting trouble. If it should turn out that they are right in their expectancies of business and stock market setbacks it will be the first time that this observer has ever witnessed a majority opinion that proved correct. So it will be most informative to see what happens over coming weeks.

Our economic future is pretty well wrapped up for us in government "directives" and "controls." If it should happen that we experience a modest deflationary period (which has seemed contrarily probable) then it might be we should also see a reaction set in against the bureaucratic controls that are causing so much confusion today.

What the Ruminator would like to see (although what we would like seldom happens!) would be a slowing-down period of a few months—with business rocking along without any fireworks, and with the stock market quieting down (at present or somewhat lower levels) and with the price-inflation moderating. This is a lot to ask, obviously, but if this should happen there would be more and more pressure brought to bear upon Washington officials to let up on their controls and their attempts to manage everyone's business.

There is another question that will prove unsettling temporarily, if it comes off. That is a definite truce in Korea, together with a settlement of the unrest in the middle east. At first blush a real truce in Korea will be interpreted bearishly but it is my contrary guess that actually any trend toward peace, if it should develop, would be construed as bullish and not bearish for the long future. Looking far ahead, world peace—or even a world truce—is far more constructive than a continuation of a general cold war and isolated hot wars.

So, in sum, the Ruminator cannot work himself up into a lather of worry over current business reports.

The Japanese introduced the giant African land snail to their island outposts during World War 2 so their soldiers could have snail stew.

Examiner—Did you ever belong to an organization that is trying to overthrow the government in Washington?

Applicant (to the surprise of the examiner)—Yes.

Examiner—You did! What is that organization?

Applicant—The Republican party.

When the Metropolitan Championships begin in New York tomorrow afternoon, Lee Hazen will be among those present in the battle of the pasteboards. Since he is a well-known lawyer as well as a fine card player, Lee has helped formulate the laws of nearly every card game that has come along in the last ten or fifteen years.

All of this attention to hair splitting has not, however, affected his ability to get all the tricks out of a hand. This may be seen by the way he made his contract in the accompanying hand, which helped his team win the championship in last year's Metropolitan.

West led the jack of diamonds. Hazen put up dummy's king, and East won with the ace. When East continued diamonds, declarer ruffed and drew trumps in two rounds.

Hazen next tried to set up a club trick by cashing the ace and king, followed by a small club toward's dummy's ten. This plan would have worked if clubs were 3-3 or if East had doubleton honor. As it happened, West was able to win the third round of clubs with the jack and could get out safely by leading the queen of clubs.

Now declarer had to limit the loss in hearts to one trick. This he accomplished by laying down the ace of hearts and allowing East to win the second heart with his blank queen. East had to return a diamond, allowing dummy to ruff while declarer discarded his last heart.

Note that West could not save his partner from the end play. If West put up the king of hearts on the second round of the suit, he would drop his partner's queen and set up dummy's jack.

When the Metropolitan Championships begin in New York tomorrow afternoon, Lee Hazen will be among those present in the battle of the pasteboards. Since he is a well-known lawyer as well as a fine card player, Lee has helped formulate the laws of nearly every card game that has come along in the last ten or fifteen years.

All of this attention to hair splitting has not, however, affected his ability to get all the tricks out of a hand. This may be seen by the way he made his contract in the accompanying hand, which helped his team win the championship in last year's Metropolitan.

West led the jack of diamonds. Hazen put up dummy's king, and East won with the ace. When East continued diamonds, declarer ruffed and drew trumps in two rounds.

Hazen next tried to set up a club trick by cashing the ace and king, followed by a small club toward's dummy's ten. This plan would have worked if clubs were 3-3 or if East had doubleton honor. As it happened, West was able to win the third round of clubs with the jack and could get out safely by leading the queen of clubs.

Now declarer had to limit the loss in hearts to one trick. This he accomplished by laying down the ace of hearts and allowing East to win the second heart with his blank queen. East had to return a diamond, allowing dummy to ruff while declarer discarded his last heart.

Note that West could not save his partner from the end play. If West put up the king of hearts on the second round of the suit, he would drop his partner's queen and set up dummy's jack.

Former Queen, 86, Dies at Versailles

MARIE AMELIE

Versailles, France, Oct. 25 (AP) —Former Queen Marie Amelie of Portugal died today. She was 86.

She was a granddaughter of the last king of France and the mother of the last king of Portugal. For more than 20 years she lived in the quiet Chesnay suburb of Versailles, near Paris, where the inhabitants spoke of her as the "forgotten queen."

Her death followed a long illness.

The widow of King Carlos I, Marie Amelie fled from Lisbon with her son, King Manuel, during the revolutionary coup of 1910, when Portugal was proclaimed a republic.

In recent years she was on the best of terms with the Portuguese regime of Premier Antonio De Oliveira Salazar.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Oct. 25 (AP) — A quietly lower movement took the stock market down a notch today.

Steels displayed enough weakness to unsettle the rest of the market and start the decline.

Prices were off not much more than a point at the most, and at the same time there was a considerable group of plus signs that served to cushion the fall.

Republic Steel lost ground after its earnings report showing per share profits of $6.44 in the first nine months of this year as against $9.35 a year ago. Bethlehem Steel, which reports after the market closes, lost a little more than others in the group.

Radio-television issues displayed buoyancy in the face of the nervousness in the rest of the market. Traders cite an improved sales outlook despite the ban on color television as the cause for the better feeling in that division.

Individual issues reacted promptly to corporate developments without regard to the rest of the market.

Fairbanks Morse was up around 3 points at one time after directors proposed a two for one split.

Belding Heminway fell after declaration of a 25-cent dividend as against 35 cents previously paid quarterly.

On the higher side were such issues as Radio Corp., Zenith Radio, American Smelting, McIntyre-Porcupine, American Can, Texas Co., Eastern Air Lines, and Johns-Manville.

Military Ships Loaded

New York, Oct. 25 (AP)—Vital defense shipping, crippled for 10 days by New York's wildcat longshore strike, was reported back to normal today, although other port commerce remained paralyzed. "Military shipping is back to normal," a customs service spokesman said, following a port-wide check. "The strikers no longer are holding up anything military." But the rest of the world's biggest port lay numbed, with 105 ships in the harbor unable to unload or load cargo.

Blame Red Huks

Manila, Oct. 25 (AP)—Two Americans were killed in a roadside ambush near Alongapo tonight, and U. S. Marines immediately joined in a search for the slayers, believed to be Communist Huks. The Philippines army identified one victim as John Grant. The Philippines news service said the other was Harold Alden. The U. S. Navy reported a car and a truck were ambushed near Alongapo but withheld the names of the victims.

Dangerous to Traffic

Local police were notified at 2:25 p. m., yesterday that a car was over a North street bank near the city line in such a way as to be dangerous to traffic. WOODSTOCK

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, JR.

Business Group Has Full Program

Woodstock, Oct. 24—The regular monthly meeting of the Woodstock Business Association Tuesday night at the Town House was well and enthusiastically attended.

It was voted that in lieu of the reduction of dues for members that a nominal initiation fee in the amount of one half of the annual dues, would be charged to new members.

The street sign committee, Warren Hutty and Harry Alpern, made a preliminary report on streets and roads, which was, however, detailed. When the committee has completed its work, probably some months hence, there is the possibility that it will be published in pamphlet form.

The Halloween committee for the store window decorating contest for children in the village, composed of Joseph Forno and Thomas Provenzano, will arrange for the distribution of washable paint to the young people as well as assign them to shop windows in the village. Prizes will be awarded for the best window paintings.

It was decided that members of the Business Association would ask various artists to display work in local shop windows in celebration of Art Week, under the auspices of the American Artists Professional League. Harry D. Froot and W. Jerry Jerominek will serve on the committee in charge of arrangements.

Announcement was made that papers from Albany are expected this week which will make the Business Association a corporation.

Voluntary Zoning

The question of Kenneth Wilson, town supervisor, approving a planning and zoning committee was introduced, and Wilson spoke at length on the matter. He stated that he "had the power to appoint such a committee," but went on to say that "we are letting ourselves in for something." He explained that it was at best a very controversial situation, because even if the committee made certain suggestions it would be without any authority to enforce them. As long as property owners will in most circumstances cooperate any way in changing their buildings, Wilson suggested it be left on a purely voluntary basis. The general opinion of the meeting was that Wilson was correct and that it would remain that way for the present.

Following a motion made by Warren Hutty a resolution was passed unanimously that a congratulatory letter be sent to a number of residents on the generous public spirit recently shown by installing excellent new sidewalks where none previously existed. The letter was sent to the following: Mr. and Mrs. Bartow Matteson, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Duetsch, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Perkins, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. W. Jerry Jerominek and Mr. and Mrs. Victor Lasher.

William Hand, president of the Association, urged members to attend the Blood Bank party Monday, Nov. 5, when donors will be transported to and from the Kingston City Laboratory with the pick-up at 6:30 p. m.

Ed Bauman also urged members to attend the Parent-Teacher Association meeting, Thursday, Nov. 1, when Special Agent Louis P. Hurley of the FBI will be guest speaker.

Members of the Business Association were asked to canvass friends in business in the township to join the organization.

The next meeting will be held Wednesday, Nov. 14, at Deanies with dinner at 7:15 p. m.

Former Queen, 86, Dies at Versailles

Versailles, France, Oct. 25 (AP) —Former Queen Marie Amelie of Portugal died today. She was 86.

She was a granddaughter of the last king of France and the mother of the last king of Portugal. For more than 20 years she lived in the quiet Chesnay suburb of Versailles, near Paris, where the inhabitants spoke of her as the "forgotten queen."

Her death followed a long illness.

The widow of King Carlos I, Marie Amelie fled from Lisbon with her son, King Manuel, during the revolutionary coup of 1910, when Portugal was proclaimed a republic.

In recent years she was on the best of terms with the Portuguese regime of Premier Antonio De Oliveira Salazar.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Oct. 25 (AP) — A quietly lower movement took the stock market down a notch today.

Steels displayed enough weakness to unsettle the rest of the market and start the decline.

Prices were off not much more than a point at the most, and at the same time there was a considerable group of plus signs that served to cushion the fall.

Republic Steel lost ground after its earnings report showing per share profits of $6.44 in the first nine months of this year as against $9.35 a year ago. Bethlehem Steel, which reports after the market closes, lost a little more than others in the group.

Radio-television issues displayed buoyancy in the face of the nervousness in the rest of the market. Traders cite an improved sales outlook despite the ban on color television as the cause for the better feeling in that division.

Individual issues reacted promptly to corporate developments without regard to the rest of the market.

Fairbanks Morse was up around 3 points at one time after directors proposed a two for one split.

Belding Heminway fell after declaration of a 25-cent dividend as against 35 cents previously paid quarterly.

On the higher side were such issues as Radio Corp., Zenith Radio, American Smelting, McIntyre-Porcupine, American Can, Texas Co., Eastern Air Lines, and Johns-Manville.

Mrs. Mary M. Gaynor, a resident of this city for the past 25 years, died at her home 32 Van Deusen street last evening following a lengthy illness. Born in High Woods, she was the daughter of the late Barnt and Eliza Van Aken Felton. Her husband Edward Gaynor died many years ago. Surviving are four daughters, Miss Anna Gaynor, Mrs. Stephen Gill, Mrs. Loretta Minnick, all of Kingston and Mrs. Ella Johnson of New York; three sons, Owen of Saugerties, Edward and David, both of Kingston; two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Sherry of Kingston and Mrs. Catherine Layman of Deposit. Eight grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren also survive. The funeral will be held from the Jenson & Deegan Funeral Home, 15 Downs street, Saturday at 8:30 a. m., and at St. Joseph's Church at 9 o'clock where a high Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of her soul. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home at any time.

Anthony T. Jankowski

The funeral of Anthony T. Jankowski of 73 Pine Grove avenue was held from the Henry J. Bruck Funeral Home, 27 Smith avenue, Wednesday at 9 a. m., thence to the Immaculate Conception Church where a high Mass of requiem was offered at 9:30 a. m. by the Rev. Joseph J. Sieczek for the repose of his soul. Responses to the Mass were sung by the children's choir assisted by Miss Theresa Gehringer at the organ. At the offertory, Miss Margaret Bujak sang the Ave Maria. While the body reposed in the chapel his many friends and relatives called to pay their respects. The casket was completely banked with flowers and many spiritual bouquets in the form of Mass cards were received. Tuesday night the Rev. Stanislaus J. Malinowski called and led those assembled in the recitation of the Rosary. Burial was in Mt. Calvary Cemetery where Father Sieczek gave the final blessing. Bearers were Frank Zakrzewski, Louis Zakrzewski, John Quest, Lester Schryver, David Post and Howard Baulser.

Ernest V. Houghtaling

The funeral of Ernest V. Houghtaling was held today at 9:30 a. m. from the Jenson and Deegan Funeral Home, 15 Downs street, and at 10 a. m. at the Church of the Holy Cross where a high requiem Mass was celebrated by the Rev. Stanley Dean, rector. His many relatives and friends attended the service as a tribute of respect to his memory. The full church choir sang the Mass out of respect to Mr. Houghtaling who was a singer in the choir for many years. During the bereavement many called at the chapel to pay their respects. At 8 p. m. Wednesday Father Dean held a prayer service for the dead. Many beautiful floral pieces were placed near the casket in the chapel. Bearers were William, Roy, Kenneth, Raymond and Nelson Houghtaling and John Letus. The burial took place in Wiltwyck Cemetery where Father Dean officiated at the grave. Military rites for the deceased veteran of World War 1 were accorded by a firing squad from the 156th Field Artillery Battalion, New York National Guard. Taps were sounded by Sgt. John Carter, bugler. The firing squad was composed of Warrant Officer Warren Swarthout, Master Sergeant John Reynolds, Master Sergeant Walter Bundy, Sgt. First Class Donald Davis, Sgt. John Hesleitner, Sgt. Charles Schoonmaker and Cpl. Robert Schoonmaker.

Military Ships Loaded

New York, Oct. 25 (AP)—Vital defense shipping, crippled for 10 days by New York's wildcat longshore strike, was reported back to normal today, although other port commerce remained paralyzed. "Military shipping is back to normal," a customs service spokesman said, following a port-wide check. "The strikers no longer are holding up anything military." But the rest of the world's biggest port lay numbed, with 105 ships in the harbor unable to unload or load cargo.

Blame Red Huks

Manila, Oct. 25 (AP)—Two Americans were killed in a roadside ambush near Alongapo tonight, and U. S. Marines immediately joined in a search for the slayers, believed to be Communist Huks. The Philippines army identified one victim as John Grant. The Philippines news service said the other was Harold Alden. The U. S. Navy reported a car and a truck were ambushed near Alongapo but withheld the names of the victims.

Dangerous to Traffic

Local police were notified at 2:25 p. m., yesterday that a car was over a North street bank near the city line in such a way as to be dangerous to traffic. Officers Elbert Soper and Gurnsey Burger investigated and said it was owned by Francis Van Gaasback, 278 North street, who said he would have it removed.

WOODSTOCK

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, JR.

Business Group Has Full Program

Woodstock, Oct. 24—The regular monthly meeting of the Woodstock Business Association Tuesday night at the Town House was well and enthusiastically attended.

It was voted that in lieu of the reduction of dues for members that a nominal initiation fee in the amount of one half of the annual dues, would be charged to new members.

The street sign committee, Warren Hutty and Harry Alpern, made a preliminary report on streets and roads, which was, however, detailed. When the committee has completed its work, probably some months hence, there is the possibility that it will be published in pamphlet form.

The Halloween committee for the store window decorating contest for children in the village, composed of Joseph Forno and Thomas Provenzano, will arrange for the distribution of washable paint to the young people as well as assign them to shop windows in the village. Prizes will be awarded for the best window paintings.

It was decided that members of the Business Association would ask various artists to display work in local shop windows in celebration of Art Week, under the auspices of the American Artists Professional League. Harry D. Froot and W. Jerry Jerominek will serve on the committee in charge of arrangements.

Announcement was made that papers from Albany are expected this week which will make the Business Association a corporation.

Voluntary Zoning

The question of Kenneth Wilson, town supervisor, approving a planning and zoning committee was introduced, and Wilson spoke at length on the matter. He stated that he "had the power to appoint such a committee," but went on to say that "we are letting ourselves in for something." He explained that it was at best a very controversial situation, because even if the committee made certain suggestions it would be without any authority to enforce them. As long as property owners will in most circumstances cooperate any way in changing their buildings, Wilson suggested it be left on a purely voluntary basis. The general opinion of the meeting was that Wilson was correct and that it would remain that way for the present.

Following a motion made by Warren Hutty a resolution was passed unanimously that a congratulatory letter be sent to a number of residents on the generous public spirit recently shown by installing excellent new sidewalks where none previously existed. The letter was sent to the following: Mr. and Mrs. Bartow Matteson, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Duetsch, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Perkins, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. W. Jerry Jerominck and Mr. and Mrs. Victor Lasher.

William Hand, president of the Association, urged members to attend the Blood Bank party Monday, Nov. 5, when donors will be transported to and from the Kingston City Laboratory with the pick-up at 6:30 p. m.

Ed Bauman also urged members to attend the Parent-Teacher Association meeting, Thursday, Nov. 1, when Special Agent Louis P. Hurley of the FBI will be guest speaker.

Members of the Business Association were asked to canvass friends in business in the township to join the organization.

The next meeting will be held Wednesday, Nov. 14, at Deanics with dinner at 7:15 p. m.

with many reasonable requests for worthwhile service and improvements because we cannot afford them by reason of the prohibitives cost.

Where great emergencies arose, which threatened property or public health, we moved promptly to meet those conditions. An example is the flooding of homes in the Elizabeth street area. This condition is now in the process of being corrected.

Another emergency was the flooding of the Electrol plant, with a several million dollar payroll. Not only was the sewer in the Grand street industrial area found inadequate, but the surcharged sewer backed up into houses as far away as the Second Ward. Realizing that industrial plants mean jobs, and jobs mean pay-rolls, your city administration moved quickly. The Common Council appropriated funds to correct the situation and work will commence in the near future.

Another major sewer project which has been planned is the one to eliminate flooding of homes on Andrew, Brewster and Levan streets caused by the additional run-off of storm water from the Myron J. Michael school area and because of the new Benedictine Hospital enlargement.

An acute sewer condition still remains in the Fifth Ward, where the sewage must be brought along East Strand to the sewage disposal plant.

In the high area of the Third Ward, there was insufficient water pressure to permit the use of water in homes during certain hours. A stand-pipe was erected on the top of Florence street and water is now available to all residents for home use and for fire protection.

For years the Summer street dump has been a political football in many campaigns. This nuisance and health menace has largely been eliminated. The dump has been covered with soil from the Broadway Crossing elimination job and work is now progressing on the enlargement of the city incinerator so that more combustibles can be disposed of.

Street Maintenance Problem

The maintenance of our 100 miles of streets is another problem. Last winter was unusually severe on street pavements. Much work should have been done but our street repair program had to be limited by the appropriation made in the budget. However, notwithstanding the higher costs of labor and material, I am glad to be able to report that since I have been Mayor more than 200 blocks of streets, in all parts of the city, have either been rebuilt or given major repairs.

Traffic is an increasing hazzard, particularly to our children. To protect our school children, your city administration established a police traffic patrol of women to safeguard our children near schools. I am happy to report to you that the results have been most gratifying.

Another need we have recognized is the need for additional housing. The families in the Veterans Housing Project at Loughran Park, which was intended for temporary use only, are entitled to better living quarters for themselves and their families. I am happy to report that plans and specifications have been completed, bids have been advertised for, and construction of this modern garden apartment development for 100 families on Flatbush avenue should start in the near future.

I need not remind you that you have a very substantial investment in the properties and facilities owned by the City of Kingston. These properties house and equip your department of public works, which is responsible for building, maintaining, lighting and cleaning your streets, and for leaf and snow removal; for maintaining your parks, playgrounds and stadium, and for removing and disposing of your garbage and rubbish. Your police and fire departments are responsible for operating buildings and facilities for protecting your lives and property and maintaining law and order; your water department is charged with the responsibility of providing you with an abundant supply of pure water; your city laboratory protects your health; your municipal auditorium provides recreation and facilities for conventions; you maintain a city court to dispense justice and a recreation department to aid in combating juvenile delinquency.

Your mayor is the general manager of many of these activities.

Complete Attention Given

During my service as mayor, I have learned a great deal about the problems connected with those activities. I can truthfully state that I have given my job my complete and undivided attention and the very best service of which I was capable. I sincerely hope that I have merited your approval.

One of my greatest problems has been to balance justice to our city employes in the wages paid them because of rising prices with justice to the taxpayers who must pay the bill. As you know, the largest part of the city budget goes for wages of city employes. Last year I proposed and the Common Council approved a cost of living increase of $240 per year for city employes, including policemen and firemen. Let me quote to you from my annual message of last January 1st. At that time I said:

"When I first started to prepare the budget last October, I resolved that, in view of the rising costs of living, city employes were entitled to increased compensation to permit them to meet those costs. The cost of living data published on October 1, 1950 by the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics was used as a guide in arriving at my previously announced decision to recommend a 5 per cent cost-of-living bonus. Upon further investigation, however, I find that price indices have greatly increased since October 1st because of national wage patterns and the pressure of the war preparedness program upon our national economy brought about principally by lack of national price and wage controls. The $240 bonus recommended herein is commensurate with the cost indices in effect today.

City employes, like the rest of us, have the responsibility to provide the necessities of life for their families. While we might deplore the political and economic developments which are responsible for the whirlwind of inflation which has hit us, we must face the fact that inflation is with us, and in a big way.

Can't Penalize Workers

We cannot, in good conscience, penalize municipal workers by failing to recognize their plight. To fail to keep their wages on a level with prices would be equivalent to imposing on them a wage reduction. That would be unjust and discriminatory."

Since last January, as you all know, the whirlwind of inflation has moved at an even faster pace.

Since I am a candidate for re-election, I feel in all fairness to you I should tell you frankly the wage policy which I propose for next year, if re-elected. It is simply this: That each and every city employe, excepting the officials including myself, whose salaries are fixed by charter, should receive $240 more than he received in 1951. This seems to me to be an increase that is necessary and which is fair and reasonable to both our employes and our taxpayers.

In conclusion, please permit me to assure you that I shall appreciate your support at the polls on Election Day. I pledge to you, if re-elected, I shall continue to serve you with honesty, fidelity and integrity, and strive to continue to give you the same good government during the next two years as you have had at my hands in the past.

The motto on the first penny authorized by the U. S. Congress was inspired by Benjamin Franklin and said, "Mind Your Business."

FAT FOLKS!
Your Dream Has Come True!

If you are a normal, healthy, overweight man or woman by all means read about this amazing, new, clinically tested medical discovery, that is already creating a sensation all over the country.

Forget all about diets, hunger, calorie counting, massage, drugs, exercise and all other unpleasant, unnecessary things usually associated with reducing.

For a great medical discovery now makes it possible for you to lose pounds of excess fat safely—without dieting, without having a single hungry moment.

Doctors Discover Wafex

Most doctors agree that the best way to lose excess fat it to eat less—to go on a restricted diet. A group of New York doctors, making a special study of obesity, realized however, that while dieting was desirable it wasn't as easy or as simple as it sounds for most overweight people.

Hunger—The Fat Person's Enemy!

Dieting for most folks means hunger. And few people can resist hunger. So they appease it by eating between meals, by going off their diets. And back comes the unwanted pounds and inches.

So these New York doctors worked for years searching for a formula that would lick hunger and make people lose fat safely, without dieting. They finally announced success in a food adjunct called WAFEX.

Clinical Tests Proved Their Discovery

The doctors clinically tested WAFEX on a large group of non-glandular overweight men and women.

The group undergoing the tests were instructed by the doctors to chew or suck a tasty WAFEX half an hour before each meal but not to go on any special diet, not to cut out any special foods—just sit down at the table and eat until satisfied.

Results Amazing

Every member of the group lost 8 to 20 pounds in a short period of time; in fact satisfactory weight losses were noticed the very first week. And not a single person said she had a hungry moment.

Wafex as Harmless as a Glass of Water

A food adjunct not a drug

During the tests the doctors carefully checked the physical condition of each member of the group, took electro-cardiograms, and did not find a single case of ill effect. Everyone said she never felt better. So at last, the fat person's dream has come true—a way to lose excess fat without dieting, without hunger, without giving up the foods she likes.

Start slimming down your figure. Get WAFEX today. $3 for a month's supply. GUARANTEE: if you aren't pleased with the weight you lost after using one bottle of WAFEX you get your money back.

Wafex Stops Hunger

This Wafex Wafer has according to scientific calculations, the hunger satisfying capacity of 1 lb. boiled potatoes, 4 eggs or 5 slices of white bread. Yet contains only 5 calories.

FAT FOLKS! Your Dream Has Come True!

How to Lose UGLY FAT Without Dieting-Hunger

If you are a normal, healthy, overweight man or woman by all means read about this amazing, new, clinically tested medical discovery, that is already creating a sensation all over the country.

Forget all about diets, hunger, calorie counting, massage, drugs, exercise and all other unpleasant, unnecessary things usually associated with reducing.

For a great medical discovery now makes it possible for you to lose pounds of excess fat safely—without dieting, without having a single hungry moment.

Doctors Discover Wafex

Most doctors agree that the best way to lose excess fat it to eat less—to go on a restricted diet. A group of New York doctors, making a special study of obesity, realized however, that while dieting was desirable it wasn't as easy or as simple as it sounds for most overweight people.

Hunger—The Fat Person's Enemy!

Dieting for most folks means hunger. And few people can resist hunger. So they appease it by eating between meals, by going off their diets. And back comes the unwanted pounds and inches.

So these New York doctors worked for years searching for a formula that would lick hunger and make people lose fat safely, without dieting. They finally announced success in a food adjunct called WAFEX.

Clinical Tests Proved Their Discovery

The doctors clinically tested WAFEX on a large group of non-glandular overweight men and women.

The group undergoing the tests were instructed by the doctors to chew or suck a tasty WAFEX half an hour before each meal but not to go on any special diet, not to cut out any special foods—just sit down at the table and eat until satisfied.

Results Amazing

Every member of the group lost 8 to 20 pounds in a short period of time; in fact satisfactory weight losses were noticed the very first week. And not a single person said she had a hungry moment.

Wafex as Harmless as a Glass of Water

A food adjunct not a drug

During the tests the doctors carefully checked the physical condition of each member of the group, took electro-cardiograms, and did not find a single case of ill effect. Everyone said she never felt better. So at last, the fat person's dream has come true—a way to lose excess fat without dieting, without hunger, without giving up the foods she likes.

Start slimming down your figure. Get WAFEX today. $3 for a month's supply. GUARANTEE: if you aren't pleased with the weight you lost after using one bottle of WAFEX you get your money back.

Wafex Stops Hunger

This Wafex Wafer has according to scientific calculations, the hunger satisfying capacity of 1 lb. boiled potatoes, 4 eggs or 5 slices of white bread. Yet contains only 5 calories.

Weekly Food Review

(By The Associated Press)

Egg prices levelled off this week and even turned downward in many places after weeks of pushing higher.

Reductions of a few cents a pound for chickens also were reported in a few large marketing areas. But other changes in retail food prices were largely confined to special promotions designed to attract shoppers.

In contrast to last week, when pork showed up in the vast majority of these advertised specials, there was little uniformity among the so-called "loss leaders" this week.

One large chain featured frying chickens, two others trimmed a few cents off the price of beefsteaks, another stressed fresh hams and pork shoulders, another spotlighted bacon and sausages. Major independents showed similar variety.

However, nearly all large stores offered bargains in apples, in honor of National Apple Week which begins today (Thursday) and runs through Nov. 3. The fruit has been heavily promoted since the beginning of the month and demand was reported unusually active. The A&P reported its apple sales this week up 35 per cent over the like week last year.

Four Cents Dozen

Reductions in egg prices ranged to as much as four cents a dozen. Trade spokesmen said the drops may be only temporary because high meat prices are keeping demand for eggs high, and storage stocks are low. W. D. Termohlen, director of the poultry branch of the Agriculture Department's Production and Marketing Division, estimated that per capita consumption may reach 406 eggs this year to set a new record and top last year's consumption by an even dozen eggs per person.

Frying and broiling chickens were marked down four to seven cents a pound in scattered sections but held unchanged in many others. Broilers, along with cranberries, were headlined by the Agriculture Department as a most-plentiful food for thrifty buying this week.

Output of broilers and fryers is expected to set a record this year at around 770 million birds, with broiler production alone up 25 per cent from last year. Cranberry production for 1951 is estimated at about 916,000 barrels, compared with last year's record 984,000.

Will Find Sprouts

On the fresh produce counters this week, housewives will find brussels sprouts, carrots, lettuce, squash, sweet potatoes and grapes a little lower in most places. Somewhat higher: Potatoes, spinach, prunes, pears and eggplant.

Produce men say there are plenty of pumpkins available this year—either for pies or for those Halloween jackolanterns.

Other food notes:

Dole Hawaiian Pineapple Co. trimmed prices of its canned pineapple juice an average of 18 per cent, bringing them down to pre-World War 2 levels. The cut was made "to protect the company's competitive position in the canned juice field."

Maine potatoes were selling at Presque Isle, Me., this week at $3 a barrel, compared with $1.42 last year when the spuds were price supported by the government. Some growers believe the price may go as high as $4 by Christmas, reflecting reduced plantings after the support program was abandoned.

Wholesale food prices this week were at the lowest average level so far this year, according to the Dun & Bradstreet food index. The index, in the sharpest drop since July, fell to $6.69 from last week's $6.77 and compared with $6.50 a year ago. This year's high was $7.31 on Feb. 20. The index represents the total cost at wholesale of one pound each of 31 foods in general use. Twelve of those foods were lower this week, seven higher.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS — LABELS — By Merrill Blosser

Magazine Has Feature on How Wiltwyck Runs

Negro and white boys, and Negro and white staff members all work and play harmoniously together at Wiltwyck, privately financed interracial school at Esopus, where "boys are made over." This is the theme of an article on Wiltwyck in the issue of Look magazine just published. The article shows many photographs of the Negro and white boys at play together, often under the supervision of a Negro counselor.

The staff at Wiltwyck School, which includes teachers, nurses, counselors and social workers, is about half Negro and half white. Several of the Negro staff members are featured in the article. These include the residential director, Edward P. Norris, a native of Baltimore, Md., and a graduate of the New York School of Social Work. Norris lives with his mother, Mrs. Florence House, in a cottage on the school grounds, where Mrs. House welcomes all the boys to frequent home-parties.

Another Negro staff member, Coolidge Abel Bey France, of Atlanta, Ga., is shown supervising a mixed group of boys, and again, helping a white boy write a letter to his family. Serving as a summer counselor only, France is a student at Meharry Medical College, Nashville, Tenn.

Miss Anna B. Chase, a Negro social worker from Brooklyn, is featured on one of the pages with a laudatory headline, reading: "Miss Chase likes all the boys."

Wiltwyck School for Boys is an interracial institution which accepts boys from eight to 12 years of age, referred and committed to the school by the courts of New York city's five boroughs or by other agencies. The treatment is individualized, and is aimed at helping maladjusted or rejected children to find acceptance, recognition and security in this children's community. The goal of the school's program is to adjust or readjust each of its boys for a normal life in society.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS — LABELS — By Merrill Blosser

Magazine Has Feature on How Wiltwyck Runs

Negro and white boys, and Negro and white staff members all work and play harmoniously together at Wiltwyck, privately financed interracial school at Esopus, where "boys are made over." This is the theme of an article on Wiltwyck in the issue of Look magazine just published. The article shows many photographs of the Negro and white boys at play together, often under the supervision of a Negro counselor.

The staff at Wiltwyck School, which includes teachers, nurses, counselors and social workers, is about half Negro and half white. Several of the Negro staff members are featured in the article. These include the residential director, Edward P. Norris, a native of Baltimore, Md., and a graduate of the New York School of Social Work. Norris lives with his mother, Mrs. Florence House, in a cottage on the school grounds, where Mrs. House welcomes all the boys to frequent home-parties.

Another Negro staff member, Coolidge Abel Bey France, of Atlanta, Ga., is shown supervising a mixed group of boys, and again, helping a white boy write a letter to his family. Serving as a summer counselor only, France is a student at Meharry Medical College, Nashville, Tenn.

Miss Anna B. Chase, a Negro social worker from Brooklyn, is featured on one of the pages with a laudatory headline, reading: "Miss Chase likes all the boys."

Wiltwyck School for Boys is an interracial institution which accepts boys from eight to 12 years of age, referred and committed to the school by the courts of New York city's five boroughs or by other agencies. The treatment is individualized, and is aimed at helping maladjusted or rejected children to find acceptance, recognition and security in this children's community. The goal of the school's program is to adjust or readjust each of its boys for a normal life in society.

CINNAMON PEPS UP COBBLER

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Ducking for apples on Halloween is fun. But eating apples day after day is even more fun—also good health insurance.

An old-fashioned apple cobbler with cinnamon cream topping, as made by a friend who lives in one of the famous Washington State orchards, is a happy thought.

Old-Fashioned Apple Cobbler With Cinnamon Topping (Serves 6)

Two cups thinly sliced red apples, ½ cup brown sugar, 2 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon nutmeg, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, 1 recipe enriched biscuit mix.

Place thinly sliced apples in greased baking dish. Sprinkle with mixture of sugar and flour, then lemon juice. Dot with butter or margarine. Drop biscuit batter in six mounds over apples. Bake in hot oven (425 degree F.) 30 minutes.

May be served warm or cold, plain or topped with cinnamon cream. To prepare the cream, crush red cinnamon candies and fold into whipped cream.

Tossed Waldorf Salad with sour cream dressing is another.

Tossed Waldorf Salad With Sour Cream Dressing (Serves 4-6)

Three red apples, 4 stalks celery, chopped, ½ cup walnuts or pecans, chopped, 3 tablespoons mayonnaise, ¼ cup sour cream, ¼ teaspoon sugar.

Core and dice unpeeled red apples and combine with chopped celery and nuts. To mayonnaise, sour cream and sugar, add a few grains of salt and a dash of paprika. Combine fruit and dressing and toss together gently. Serve on crisp shredded lettuce.

Many salad makers add the chopped celery last in order to prevent its "weeping."

There are many variations on Waldorf Salad. Try serving it in green pepper shells. Try adding pineapple. The apples and pineapple produce a delicate flavor. The juice of the pineapple prevents the apple from darkening.

If you want an apple specially for the Halloween party, use bright red Delicious. Make "magic cauldrons" of them by standing on three food picks. Cut a pocket from the top and fill the pocket with nuts and raisins.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Canned citrus juice, griddle cakes, butter or fortified margarine, syrup or honey, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Casserole of onions, carrots, canned peas and celery in a light cheese sauce, whole wheat bread, butter or fortified margarine, ginger pears, sugar cookies, tea, milk.

DINNER: Tomato juice, fried fish fillets with tartar sauce, parsley potatoes, buttered cauliflower, enriched bread, butter or fortified margarine, old-fashioned apple cobbler with cinnamon cream topping, coffee, milk.

Telegraph Office Announces Saving

The 1951 Revenue Act, signed by President Truman to become effective November 1, carries a 40 per cent reduction in the federal excise tax on telegrams that will save patrons more than $14,000,000 annually, it was announced by Joseph Vidal, local manager of the Western Union office in The Freeman building at 237 Fair street.

This act reduces the telegram user's excise tax from 25 per cent to 15 per cent, but leaves the other communications tax rates within the United States unchanged.

Combined with greater word allowances for telegrams and night letters which were announced recently, the $14,000,000 tax cut for telegraph users is expected to result in greater use of telegraph service, Vidal stated.

The 25 per cent telegram tax was imposed during World War 2 primarily to discourage civilian use of telegraph service and to free the wires for vital war traffic. By doubling its message capacity since the war through a $100,000,000 mechanization and improvement program, Western Union has provided a huge reservoir of capacity to meet both civilian and government needs. Recognizing that the 25 per cent wartime tax was continuing to exert a volume-depressing effect on peace time telegraph business, Congress took action to reduce it.

More Volunteers Called by Rowe For TB Seal Sale

While expressing deep gratification over the number of Ulster county residents who are offering their services for the 1951 Christmas Seal Sale campaign, James L. Rowe, general chairman, said today that more volunteers are needed.

The 1951 Christmas Seal Sale will be conducted in Ulster county by the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association from Nov. 19 to Jan. 1. Funds from the sale of Christmas Seals will be used to support the tuberculosis control work of the association. This year's Christmas Seal Sale is the 45th annual Christmas Seal Sale to be conducted in this country and the 42nd in the county.

Those who have already volunteered Chairman Rowe added, represent various church organizations, the Girl Scouts, and individuals. Those who have already pledged their services are the Rondout Presbyterian Service Club, the Girl Scouts, St. Mary's Rosary Society and Sisterhood of Temple Emanuel. These volunteers make Christmas Seals work a regular, annual activity at this time of year, according to Rowe, although there are new recruits this year.

"I am grateful to those who have already responded, but we do need more volunteers to help with the Seal Sale, such as typists, for example, to help with addressing envelopes and other work. We can also use additional speakers to address groups during the Christmas Seal campaign. There are jobs, too, for people who like to plan and work with displays and exhibits.

"In the final analysis, it will be the work of the volunteers in this community which will make the Christmas Seal Sale a success, and we need the help of everyone who can spare the time. Those who feel they can serve may contact me at Christmas Seals headquarters, 74 John street, telephone 1164.

Housing Permits Reach $7,893,600

State Housing Commissioner Herman T. Stichman said today that housing permit valuation in the Kingston - Newburgh - Poughkeepsie industrial area for the first nine months of this year was $7,893,600.

Permits were issued for 534 dwelling units valued at $4,540,400 as compared to 700 dwelling units (of which 186 were publicly financed) valued at $6,047,300 for the first nine months of 1950.

The total valuation for this year includes approximately $1,205,200 for additions, alterations and repairs to existing buildings, and $2,148,000 for new non-residential structures.

The area includes Kingston, Newburgh, Poughkeepsie, Beacon, Middletown, Port Jervis, Ellenville, Goshen, Highland Falls, Saugerties, Walden, Wappingers Falls and Warwick.

Stichman's report for the state showed a 37 per cent decline in private homebuilding starts in urban, rural and non-farm areas for September as compared to the same month in 1950.

More Volunteers Called by Rowe For TB Seal Sale

While expressing deep gratification over the number of Ulster county residents who are offering their services for the 1951 Christmas Seal Sale campaign, James L. Rowe, general chairman, said today that more volunteers are needed.

The 1951 Christmas Seal Sale will be conducted in Ulster county by the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association from Nov. 19 to Jan. 1. Funds from the sale of Christmas Seals will be used to support the tuberculosis control work of the association. This year's Christmas Seal Sale is the 45th annual Christmas Seal Sale to be conducted in this country and the 42nd in the county.

Those who have already volunteered Chairman Rowe added, represent various church organizations, the Girl Scouts, and individuals. Those who have already pledged their services are the Rondout Presbyterian Service Club, the Girl Scouts, St. Mary's Rosary Society and Sisterhood of Temple Emanuel. These volunteers make Christmas Seals work a regular, annual activity at this time of year, according to Rowe, although there are new recruits this year.

"I am grateful to those who have already responded, but we do need more volunteers to help with the Seal Sale, such as typists, for example, to help with addressing envelopes and other work. We can also use additional speakers to address groups during the Christmas Seal campaign. There are jobs, too, for people who like to plan and work with displays and exhibits.

"In the final analysis, it will be the work of the volunteers in this community which will make the Christmas Seal Sale a success, and we need the help of everyone who can spare the time. Those who feel they can serve may contact me at Christmas Seals headquarters, 74 John street, telephone 1164.

Advice on Plowing

Wooster, O. (AP) — Whether farmers should plow their land in fall or spring depends largely upon soil types found on their farms, the Ohio State University agricultural experiment station says. Tests over a 14-year period indicate that spring plowing is preferable on light soils. If plowed in the fall the ground has a tendency to become compacted by spring. On heavier soils tests indicate that late fall plowing gives as good or better granulation of the soil than spring plowing.

Clubs Honor United Nations Day

Work of UN Is Outlined Here by Brian Meredith

Wednesday was United Nations Day and the occasion was observed by the service organizations of the city with Brian Meredith of the United Nations Radio Division giving an eye-witness account of the work of the UN on the battlefields in Korea and in farflung corners of the world.

Born in adversity during the last war, the United Nations is fulfilling a job not wanted and not intended and not anticipated. Manifesting a responsibility for other nations it is doing a tremendous job, the details of which are not generally known, he said.

The United Nations must continue its work for the backward and neglected people of the world, he asserted, and the knowledge of their plight must be brought to the attention of all the people.

Continuing the speaker said that the people of Korea know that the United Nations is not only fighting aggression by giving their blood and treasure but also by aiding and assisting the suffering.

The speaker was introduced by Walter Donnaruma, who gave a brief outline of Meredith's connection with the UN organization.

In welcoming the Kiwanis and Lions Clubs, Rotary Club President Dean Dykstra said that Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk suggested the UN program for the service clubs and it happened to fall on the regular luncheon-meeting day of the Rotary at the Hotel Stuyvesant.

Arriving in Korea in September, 1950 a few days after the first liberation of Seoul, the speaker gave an eye witness account of the hardship suffered by these people, who were driven from their homes with the families separated and many frozen to death.

Happy Yet Sad

The gathering of the three service clubs, he said, displaying community harmony reminded him of a meeting of Rotarians in Seoul. It was a very happy meeting but also a very sad affair, because these men knew that inevitably their homes and lives would be shattered and they would become refugees. This group of determined, kindly and sensible men was a source of inspiration to the UN.

He likened the situation to that of 300 years ago in Kingston where from the ashes of burned homes, this beautiful community has come into being.

He also told of the work of the United Nations in Kashmir. He was then with the staff of the UN representative in India and Pakistan, where Admiral Nimitz stood ready to serve as administrator of a plebiscite in Kashmir.

United Nations Day Luncheon

Here a truce was signed and that is what the UN is trying to do elsewhere, he said.

Battling in War

He praised the United States fighting forces, who were battling gallantly in this very ugly war and going far beyond the call of country in this companionship war. Some 20 nations are actively engaged and almost 50 nations are participating in some form. He said the United Nations forces are amazingly cohesive and getting along as all good fighting men do.

The work of the World Health Organization in alleviating suffering and preventing the spread of disease in various parts of the world was explained by the speaker in some detail.

In a question period following his highly illuminating talk, he stressed that the people of Korea was humiliatingly grateful for our help and were deeply moved and appreciative for what was being done for them. This new tide in the affairs of all men, he said, will bring results.

The UN cannot force any other nation to send more than token forces to the battlefields or to do anything else.

The term police action is correct, but it has taken the form of war.

The use of atomic weapons is purely speculative.

The UN is now employing boycotts on enemy nations. The boycotts are taking many forms.

In conclusion he asserted that the advances in cultural, spiritual and educational lines must be brought to Asia and Africa.

And the average fighting man wants to see the war ended as soon as possible. They are not enthusiastic about spreading the war. They do not want to be shot at and they don't want to shoot anyone. They see the bloodshed and the result of the weapons of today and are very tired of it all.

Home for the Blind

Port Arthur, Ont. (AP)—A new home for the blind to be built here will provide classrooms and workshops for some 150 blind persons of the district. The $150,000 structure will also have living accommodations for some of them.

UN Proposes . . .

the Communists, the subcommittees adjourned until 11 a, m. Friday (9 p. m., EST, Thursday).

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, UN command spokesman, said the Communists would be obliged to give up Kaesong, former site of cease-fire talks. It is just below Parallel 38 in western Korea.

The proposed buffer zone would run from the mouth of the Yesong river in West Korea 11½ miles southwest of Kosong on the Korean east coast. The allies are about 50 miles north of Parallel 38 in that area.

Would Send Scouts

The line would run about four miles south of Pyonggang, apex of the old triangle buildup area of the Communists. It would bend south to about 6½ miles south of Kumsong, the blasted Red headquarters and supply center of the central front, now virtually in allied hands.

From that point it would twist northeastward and through a point about 15 miles north of the Hwachon reservoir on the east central front and then generally northeast of the east coast.

Allied forces would keep hardwon, blood-soaked Heartbreak Ridge on the east central front.

Nuckols said the main delegations session was "very amicable." After half an hour Gen. Nam Il, chief Red envoy, proposed that the cease-fire problem be handed back to the subcommittees. The allies agreed.

The subcommittees were deadlocked on the issue when the Reds called off the talks at Kaesong Aug. 28.

Nuckols said: "We wasted very little time on administrative matters. The desire of the United Nations delegation was to get on to substantial matters and not go into past history.

"We wanted to get into agenda item number two (the buffer zone) as quickly as possible and that is exactly what we are doing."

Thursday night was the first time since negotiations opened July 10 that the United Nations command has publicly announced exactly where it wanted the cease-fire line.

Previously the allies insisted on current battle lines.

Nuckols said the Communists had asked the UN for a proposed cease-fire line. They made no offer of their own.

Until 1857, pennies minted in the United States were large coins.

Milk Strike End

into cheese and ice cream rather than have it spoil in the tie-up.

Some stores that had stocked up estimated they could dole out milk for two days. Stocks of others were depleted already.

May Lose $140,000 Daily

Albany, Oct. 25 (AP)—Upstate New York farmers stand to lose an estimated $140,000 a day while New York city's milk delivery strike lasts.

Most of the shippers in the metropolitan area's sprawling five-state milkshed cut off the flow of liquid milk last night when 15,000 drivers and dairy plant workers went on strike.

The tieup was expected to force most producers to divert their output to processing plants for the manufacture of such by-products as cheese and ice cream, where the cash return is lower.

At Cobleskill, Chester Downing, manager of the Dairy Express, said that seven of his tank trucks were loaded with milk, and he had no place to ship them. Each tank holds 14,000 quarts.

Downing, who ships the output of the Schoharie County Co-Operative Dairy, Inc., said his three other trucks were tied up in Yonkers.

The co-operative processes about 187,000 pounds of raw milk a day.

Professor Haywood Will Speak At Mount Holyoke Luncheon

Later, she traveled to the West Coast, stopping at Glacier National Park in Montana. While in Seattle, she visited at the new medical school of the University of Washington, where she saw Miss Barbara Landau, formerly with the Mount Holyoke physiology department and Miss Barbara Harrison, who received her MA in physiology at the college in 1945.

Monday Discussions For Parents Slated To Start October 29

Children at Home and at School will be the theme of a discussion group each Monday evening in connection with the adult education program to be organized October 29. The meetings will be tentatively held in the new vocational building, Broadway, in Room V 207, which is on the second floor.

This group will be sponsored by the elementary and junior high school principals of the city, and is open to parents, teachers, and youth group workers interested in children of ages four through 14. Fathers are especially invited. Representatives from all organizations interested in children's work are urged to attend.

The topics to be dealt with includes: a knowledge of child development at different age levels, problems of parents problems of teachers, the relationship of parents to the school. The course is also intended to help parents understand the school system better.

The discussion group will be conducted largely on a workshop basis with members doing the planning. Speakers will be obtained from nearby colleges, and local social service agencies. New films on child behavior will be discussed. The specific program and topics to be considered will be chosen by members of the group.

The advisory committee sponsoring this series of meetings includes: Principals A. J. Boyd, Harry T. Gumaer, William R. Reardon; Dr. Ruth Northway, director of elementary education, and Miss Dorothy Beuhring, a teacher at School No. 4, who will act as secretary. The first meeting will be held Monday at 7 o'clock.

Kindergarten Children Have Farm Tour

About 103 children from the kindergarten, School 6, traveled by bus on Tuesday of this week to the Beatty Farm Dairy as a follow up for a farm project just completed in the classroom.

The children were shown the new conveyor which carries the corn to the top of the barn where it is stored prior to being ground into feed and bagged. Milking by machine made quite an impression on the youngsters as did the individual water buckets.

They had no difficulty in identifying the silo, weathervane and tractor since they had studied about them in the classroom.

The cows and new calves were, as might be expected, of great interest to the children. They watched the bottles being sterilized, filled and capped, after which the young pupils enjoyed a bottle of chocolate milk.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT AT SISTER'S RECEPTION

A letter today says: "I have just received my engagement ring. My sister is going to be married within a month's time. I would like my parents to announce my engagement some time during my sister's wedding reception. I think this would be a very good time to do it since all of our relatives and many friends will be present. My parents seem to think that this would detract too much from the wedding couple but will do it if you say it is all right. What is your opinion?"

It would be impossible to choose a more suitable time to announce your engagement. After the toast is drunk to the bride and bridegroom, your father then proposes a toast to your engagement.

Open Salt Cellars

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please print a few words in your column about the unsanitary habit some people have of dipping their fingers into the open salt cellars that other people have to use. Every time I see this done I become more and more irritated. Certainly no one wants to use salt that others have had their fingers in.

Answer: It is entirely the fault of the hostess for not supplying salt spoons—unless the blade of your knife has not been used, there is nothing to do but use your fingers.

Salesman Announcing Himself

Dear Mrs. Post: I am a salesman and am never quite sure how to announce myself over the telephone when calling prospective customers. Do I say, "This is Mr. Blank of the XYZ Company," "This is Mr. John Blank of . . ." or "This is John Blank of . . ."? I would appreciate your straightening me out on this problem.

Answer: Your first suggestion is right.

Golden Wedding Anniversary

Dear Mrs. Post: I have received an invitation to a golden wedding anniversary. Is it necessary that a gift of gold be given, or may any other suitable item be given?

Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but she has written leaflet E-35, "The Well-Dressed Woman," which includes answers to such problems as what to wear for business and other occasions. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P.O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Wolff, announce that the annual supper will take place on Thursday, Nov. 1, in the social hall of the temple on Abeel street from 5 o'clock until all are served. The ticket committee, headed by Mrs. Ben Silverman, 318 Main street, reports an encouraging sale of tickets. Anyone wishing tickets may contact her at telephone 2719. The ladies promise a delicious roast beef supper which they say will live up to the "well established reputation of the Sisterhood." A booth selling homemake cakes, candies and other foods, and plants will be an added attraction of the affair.

Discuss Israel Bond Drive

At a reception held in his honor last evening, Gershon Agron, former director general of information for the government of Israel, and editor of the Jerusalem Post, discusses with Nat Pitashnick, regional director, phases of the $500,000,000 State of Israel Bond drive.

Attorney and Mrs. Arthur B. Ewig of 261 Pearl street were hosts to the gathering at their home, where Mr. Agron said that funds provided through the bond issue will make possible large-scale expansion of Israel's industry and agriculture in the immediate future.

Attorney Ewig and Oscar B. London are co-chairmen for the Kingston area in the bond drive.

"Offering an opportunity for American investment in the world's fastest growing democracy," he said, "the bond issue will aid in the realization of Israel's potential as the key industrial nation in the Middle East, and will help the Jewish state absorb into its economy the 600,000 immigrants expected during the coming three years."

Mr. Agron was educated at Temple University in Philadelphia and went to Palestine in the early twenties to devote himself to the Zionist cause, and has wielded great influence in the history of Palestine during the past 25 years.

ENTERS RFC PROBE—Senate investigators plan to question Mrs. Flo Bratten, above, secretary to Vice President Alben Barkley, about reports she helped swing a $1,100,000 RFC loan to build a luxury hotel in Florida. Mrs. Bratten (pictured trying out a pistol after being made an "honorary sheriff") has acknowledged that she "called the RFC" about a loan. Barkley said such action was against his strict orders to his staff, but withheld any action against his vacationing secretary until he hears "her side of the story."

Mrs. Taylor Depicts Nature's Beauty For Little Gardens Club Members

Members of the Little Gardens Club were entranced with the artistic description of the beauty provided by nature as told by Mrs. Maxwell Taylor at the regular meeting of the organization on October 19, in the home of Mrs. Frederick Snyder.

The paper "Why Be Blind to Beauty" written and read by Mrs. Taylor, among other things, included the miracle of the trees, the newly furrowed fields, the sea, the seasons, and the beauty of the storms. She said, "beauty of the world lies not in its sheen and color, but in the order and meaning."

She concluded with "to stand on the brink of the Grand Canyon in Colorado is to behold a vast sweep of space, depth and sunset color, so profound in beauty, that the immense silence welling up from it is awe-inspiring. We all have our yardsticks to superlative beauty: the Red Woods, the Maine Coast, the Great Smokies, and our own beautiful Catskills, giving one the feeling of some ultimate enduring goodness. Enjoyment of beauty is habit forming."

Mrs. Snyder was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Etta Wolven.

Britain Decides—Churchill or Attlee?

Will the Conservatives of Winston Churchill (left) oust the labor government of Clement Attlee (right) in the Oct. 25th election in England? The question will be answered by the nearly 35 million Britons eligible to vote for the 1,374 candidates contesting the 625 seats in the House of Commons. Both parties and their leaders gave outward show of confidence as the campaign drew to a close.

Heavy Balloting

people to vote at their Westminster polling place. The mild-mannered Labor party chief cast his ballot shortly after 8 o'clock. Asked about his election prospects, he replied, "I never prophesy."

The polls remain open until 9 p. m. (4 p. m. E.S.T.)

Election experts of both parties said the total vote might exceed even the record set last year when 28,769,477 (85 per cent) of the nearly 35,000,000 registered voters cast ballots.

They based this forecast on the fact that both parties have conducted intensive drives to get out the vote and on the belief that the fundamental issues of the election have become so fiercely controversial that few ballots would go unused today.

Even after the polls opened, teams from both parties continued to go from house to house, asking people if they had voted and offering transportation to the polls.

Will Remain Awake

From Buckingham Palace came word that King George VI, still recuperating from a major lung operation, will remain awake until midnight tonight to get election results. His doctors have sanctioned the late hour for this occasion.

Election-recording boards were set up in Piccadilly Circus and other gathering points by London newspapers.

Public opinion surveys ended with the Conservatives still on top in graphs and charts—but with the lead over Labor greatly narrowed in the final hours.

Both parties were contending hotly for the Liberal vote. The Liberals — Britain's third force—number some 2,000,000 voters, but have put up candidates in only a few districts.

Final messages from both Churchill and Prime Minister Attlee tersely rephrased the central issues. These were:

1. Whether to continue the vast Socialist experiment in state control over business and industry or whether to restore the conservatives and return as far as possible to a system devoted to private enterprise.

2. Whether to bring back Churchill, on whom the Socialists have attempted to pin the label "warmonger" and who, they warn, would pursue a line of policy that easily could lead to war.

Inherent in the first are the pressing questions of prices, wages, housing, subsidies, and taxes.

In the area of foreign policy, focal points of disagreement are relations with the United States, methods of conduct in the cold war with Russia and the struggles in Iran and Egypt.

Will Give Tulip Bulbs

The first, 100 adults to call at the office of Associated Listings, 2 John street, Friday afternoon, will each receive four imported Dutch tulip bulbs free. This offer was made today by C. Kenneth Kukuk. In a letter to the anniversary group, Kukuk wrote "In keeping with the spirit of a more beautiful Kingston for the tercentenary celebration I have purchased 400 imported Dutch tulip bulbs from a local supplier and will be pleased to give them to the first 100 adults that call at this office Friday afternoon." A spokesman for the anniversary group stated that this type of cooperation is appreciated. The entire community seems to be getting into the spirit of the celebration.

Krumville Services

The Rev. David A. MacLellan, professor of preaching and pastoral care at the Yale University Divinity School, New Haven, Conn., will be the guest preacher during the annual Reformation service of the Protestant churches of Kingston next Sunday, Oct. 28, at 8 p. m. at Trinity Lutheran Church, Spring and Hone streets.

A native of Boston, Mass., the Rev. Mr. MacLennan received his education both in the United States and Canada, and has been minister of churches in both countries.

Since 1936, he has been with the Timothy Eaton Memorial Church in Toronto, one of the largest and best known churches in Canada. He assumed his Yale duties in July, 1949.

Son of Minister

He received his early education at Mt. Hermon School in Massachusetts and also at schools in British Columbia. His father, the Rev. Alexander K. MacLennan, was pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church in Boston from 1896 to 1912 and later of churches in Canada.

Following his graduation from the University of Manitoba, Winnipeg in 1926, he was ordained into the ministry of the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., in 1927. His first pastorate was the Hyde Park Presbyterian Church at Hyde Park, Mass., from 1927 to 1929.

From 1929 to 1930, he was minister of the Faith Presbyterian Church in Baltimore, Md., and then for six years he was minister of the Emanuel Church in Montreal. During visits to England in 1932 and 1934, he was a frequent preacher at several churches, including the City Temple in London and St. George's West Church in Edinburgh.

The Rev. Mr. MacLennan received his honorary degree of doctor of divinity from the University of Toronto in 1943. Previously in 1936, he had received the bachelor of divinity degree from the United Theological College at McGill University. Yale University awarded him with an honorary MA in 1949.

Britain Decides—Churchill or Attlee?

Will the Conservatives of Winston Churchill (left) oust the labor government of Clement Attlee (right) in the Oct. 25th election in England? The question will be answered by the nearly 35 million Britons eligible to vote for the 1,374 candidates contesting the 625 seats in the House of Commons. Both parties and their leaders gave outward show of confidence as the campaign drew to a close.

Heavy Balloting

people to vote at their Westminster polling place. The mild-mannered Labor party chief cast his ballot shortly after 8 o'clock. Asked about his election prospects, he replied, "I never prophesy."

The polls remain open until 9 p. m. (4 p. m. E.S.T.)

Election experts of both parties said the total vote might exceed even the record set last year when 28,769,477 (85 per cent) of the nearly 35,000,000 registered voters cast ballots.

They based this forecast on the fact that both parties have conducted intensive drives to get out the vote and on the belief that the fundamental issues of the election have become so fiercely controversial that few ballots would go unused today.

Even after the polls opened, teams from both parties continued to go from house to house, asking people if they had voted and offering transportation to the polls.

Will Remain Awake

From Buckingham Palace came word that King George VI, still recuperating from a major lung operation, will remain awake until midnight tonight to get election results. His doctors have sanctioned the late hour for this occasion.

Election-recording boards were set up in Piccadilly Circus and other gathering points by London newspapers.

Public opinion surveys ended with the Conservatives still on top in graphs and charts—but with the lead over Labor greatly narrowed in the final hours.

Both parties were contending hotly for the Liberal vote. The Liberals — Britain's third force—number some 2,000,000 voters, but have put up candidates in only a few districts.

Final messages from both Churchill and Prime Minister Attlee tersely rephrased the central issues. These were:

1. Whether to continue the vast Socialist experiment in state control over business and industry or whether to restore the conservatives and return as far as possible to a system devoted to private enterprise.

2. Whether to bring back Churchill, on whom the Socialists have attempted to pin the label "warmonger" and who, they warn, would pursue a line of policy that easily could lead to war.

Inherent in the first are the pressing questions of prices, wages, housing, subsidies, and taxes.

In the area of foreign policy, focal points of disagreement are relations with the United States, methods of conduct in the cold war with Russia and the struggles in Iran and Egypt.

Will Give Tulip Bulbs

The first 100 adults to call at the office of Associated Listings, 2 John street, Friday afternoon, will each receive four imported Dutch tulip bulbs free. This offer was made today by C. Kenneth Kukuk. In a letter to the anniversary group, Kukuk wrote "In keeping with the spirit of a more beautiful Kingston for the tercentenary celebration I have purchased 400 imported Dutch tulip bulbs from a local supplier and will be pleased to give them to the first 100 adults that call at this office Friday afternoon." A spokesman for the anniversary group stated that this type of cooperation is appreciated. The entire community seems to be getting into the spirit of the celebration.

Krumville Services

Religious services will be held in the Krumville church parsonage Sunday, Oct. 28, at 7:30 p. m. The Rev. Harry E. Christiana of Port Ewen will be the preacher.

County Men Enlist In Armed Forces

The U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force recruiting station in Kingston has announced the enlistment of three more Ulster county young men.

They include Donald R. Buley, Glenford, who has been accepted for service with the regular army for a three-year period; Salvatore S. Bennicase, 38 St. James street, who has enlisted in the U. S. Air Force for four years and Jacob A. Hummel, Jr., who selected the 24-month tour of duty in the regular army.

Pvts. Buley and Hummel, Jr., will go to Fort Devens, Mass., for 16 weeks of basic training before going to an army technical school and Airman Bennicase will be at the Sampson Air Force Base for 13 weeks of indoctrination prior to his initial assignment.

Meanwhile, Master Sergeant Alva H. McGinnis, non-commissioned officer in charge of the local recruiting station, has announced that enlistment for women in the air force has now been reduced to three-year periods. Until recently, four years was the minimum term of service for WAF's.

Sgt. McGinnis also pointed out that the waiting period for women in the army or air force between application and acceptance has been almost completely discarded and that young women now applying for enlistment may choose their own shipment date.

The local recruiter added "remembering the fall and winter of 1950-51, it is likely that the air force will again curtail or completely stop volunteer enlistments, necessitating waiting lists such as we knew last year." He said "many of the young men who were selected for service at that time would have preferred volunteering for the air force but could not be called off the waiting list in the time due to the small quota allowed this year."

Sgt. McGinnis urged all men due to be drafted to investigate the advantages offered by the air force and act as quickly as possible to avoid future disappointments.

County Men Enlist In Armed Forces

The U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force recruiting station in Kingston has announced the enlistment of three more Ulster county young men.

They include Donald R. Buley, Glenford, who has been accepted for service with the regular army for a three-year period; Salvatore S. Bennicase, 38 St. James street, who has enlisted in the U. S. Air Force for four years and Jacob A. Hummel, Jr., who selected the 24-month tour of duty in the regular army.

Pvts. Buley and Hummel, Jr., will go to Fort Devens, Mass., for 16 weeks of basic training before going to an army technical school and Airman Bennicase will be at the Sampson Air Force Base for 13 weeks of indoctrination prior to his initial assignment.

Meanwhile, Master Sergeant Alva H. McGinnis, non-commissioned officer in charge of the local recruiting station, has announced that enlistment for women in the air force has now been reduced to three-year periods. Until recently, four years was the minimum term of service for WAF's.

Sgt. McGinnis also pointed out that the waiting period for women in the army or air force between application and acceptance has been almost completely discarded and that young women now applying for enlistment may choose their own shipment date.

The local recruiter added "remembering the fall and winter of 1950-51, it is likely that the air force will again curtail or completely stop volunteer enlistments, necessitating waiting lists such as we knew last year." He said "many of the young men who were selected for service at that time would have preferred volunteering for the air force but could not be called off the waiting list in the time due to the small quota allowed this year."

Sgt. McGinnis urged all men due to be drafted to investigate the advantages offered by the air force and act as quickly as possible to avoid future disappointments.

Cornell Is Rated Edge Over Princeton in Ivy Headliner

Spartans, Illinois, USC Also Get Nod

New York, Oct. 25 (AP)—The cost of steak has gone up but you can chew on these football selections for the same old price:

Cornell over Princeton: The game of the season in the east with the winner the likely Ivy League champion. Cornell doesn't have anyone to equal Dick Kazmaier but it has the better balance and Rocco Calvo isn't exactly a slouch when it come to passing.

Michigan State over Pittsburgh: The Spartans' Don Coleman is one of the country's better tackles.

Illinois over Indiana: The Hoosiers hit their emotional peak against Ohio State last Saturday. The Illini will keep on grinding out yards and victories.

Maryland over Louisiana State: On comparative scores entirely—Maryland defeated Georgia, 43 to 7; LSU did it, 7 to 0. But the Southern Conference team will have to hustle for its victory.

Baylor over Texas A & M: It takes a brave man to make a selection on a southwest conference game but the impression here is that Isbell and Co., are slightly the stronger.

Vandy Over Tech

Vanderbilt over Georgia Tech: The Tech bubble has lasted about long enough. Wade to best Crawford in a pitching duel.

California over Oregon State: The Oregon State team that lost to Michigan State by a single touchdown at the start of the season might spill the injury-ridden Californians but apparently that was the Beavers game of the year.

Texas over Rice: The Texans want to forget that visit to Arkansas.

Friday Night

Saturday

Other Selections

Midwest: Cincinnati over Texas Western, Drake over Iowa State, Kansas over Kansas State, Miami (O.) over Marquette, Michigan over Minnesota, Nebraska over Missouri, Notre Dame over Purdue, Ohio State over Iowa, Oklahoma over Colorado, Tulsa over Wichita, Wisconsin over Northwestern.

South: Duke over Virginia, Georgia over Boston College, Kentucky over Florida, North Carolina State over Virginia Tech, Mississippi State over Alabama, The Citadel over Presbyterian, Tulane over Auburn, Virginia Military over Catawba, Wake Forest over North Carolina, Washington & Lee over Davidson, William & Mary over Richmond.

Southwest: Arkansas over Santa Clara, Hardin-Simmons over West Texas State, Houston over Villanova.

Ninth Jockey Loses Life In Waterford Park Race

The death yesterday of Richard McCraw, 23, during the running of the seventh race at Waterford Park in Newell, W. Va., raised to nine the number of jockeys killed in mishaps to date during 1951 in the United States and Canada. This compares to only three such deaths in 1950.

McCraw, an apprentice rider from Farmville, Va., was astride Junior Ireland when the horse stumbled at the three-quarter pole. McCraw, thrown over his mount's head, died of a broken neck.

Miami Beach, Fla. — Bobby Dykes, 152½, San Antonio, Tex., outpointed Roy Wouters, 158, Montreal, 10.

'50 Club', Firemen Register Cage Wins In YMCA Circuit

Bosox Release Rosar

Boston, Oct. 25 (AP)—The Boston Red Sox have given veteran catcher Warren (Buddy) Rosar his unconditional release. The 37-year-old backstop started his major league career with the New York Yankees in 1939. He came to the Red Sox from the Philadelphia Athletics after the 1949 season in a deal which sent infielder Billy Hitchcock to the A's.

Deer Herd Reported Bountiful With Start of Adirondack Season

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 25 (AP)—Thousands of big-game hunters stalked into the Adirondack woods today in hopes of bagging a buck on the first day of New York's deer season.

The antlered herd was reported bountiful in the 13-county northern area, where nimrods have until Nov. 25 to get the jump on fellow sportsmen in most other areas of the state.

More than 400,000 marksmen are expected to turn out this fall for hunting, considered a billion-dollar business in the Empire State. The state conservation department says the deer herd this year "substantially outnumbers the hunters," and "far exceeds the number present in Indian days."

The Adirondack district comprises all of 10 counties and parts of three others—Jefferson, Oneida and Herkimer. The 10 are Clinton, Essex, Franklin, Fulton, Hamilton, Lewis, Oswego, Saratoga, St. Lawrence and Warren.

The deer season doesn't start until Nov. 22 in most other areas of the state. In these areas the shooting continues until Dec. 6.

In Westchester county, the season runs from Nov. 15 to Dec. 15, but only bows and arrows may be used. In other areas, the archers could start after deer 14 days in advance of the regular season.

Coinciding with the deer season is that for black bear. A special big-game license, costing $2.25, must be carried by those seeking either or both. Hunting hours are from 7 a. m. EST, to 5 p. m.

About 10 per cent of the forests are closed to hunting because of the blow-down damage done by last November's near-hurricane. But the conservation department has kept open a number of public campsites and has reopened several Adirondack trials to help the sportsmen.

MJM Elevens Will Play Friday Night

Something new in the way of half-time festivities between a football game has been scheduled for the municipal stadium Friday night.

After Coach Will Burke's Kingston High School eleven engages Oneonta High School in the first half, the seventh and eighth graders from the Myron J. Michael School will treat the fans to their half-time specialty — a football game.

In making the announcement today, G. Warren Kias, director of athletics at KHS, said the half-time gridiron tilt will replace the usual band display.

The Maroon-Oneonta clash is scheduled for 8 o'clock under the stadium lights.

CORNELL KEY MAN

Baseball Probers Plan No Hurried Solution

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP) — A House committee has wound up its investigation of baseball but Chairman Celler (D.-N.Y.) cautions there is no quick answer to the question of whether the sport violates the anti-trust laws.

"There are many complicating factors," Celler said yesterday as the hearings closed. "For that reason the subcommittee will not attempt any hurried solution."

Celler guessed it might take several months, or maybe until early in the next session of Congress.

The hearings ended shortly after Larry MacPhail, former New York Yankee president, called for the organization of six major leagues instead of the present two.

MacPhail didn't say how, or where, his six major loops would be set up. And the members of the judiciary subcommittee apparently were too surprised to ask.

Optimism Shrouds Marciano's Camp

Greenwood Lake, Oct. 25 (AP)—Quiet optimism oozes from this training camp of Rocky Marciano, unbeaten Brockton, Mass. heavyweight with 37 straight victories.

The was the 27-year-old army veteran acts, you'd think he was ready for another humpty dumpty in providence rather than the chance of a lifetime against old Joe Louis.

Other fighters "died" in the dressing room from fear of the Brown Bomber's fists. This won't happen to Marciano.

Louis—even if he is 37 and showing signs of wear and tear—is enough to inspire deep respect especially in a youngster who has was only nine years old when Joe fought his first pro fight.

The respect is here—Marciano refuses to make brash statements about a knockout — but Rocky does not stand in awe of the bomber.

Doesn't Predict Kayo

"I've never predicted I'll knock anybody out," he told reporters yesterday after his final boxing drill. "I'm confident, very confident."

About plans of action. What did you expect Louis to try?

"We've given no though to Louis," he said. "I'll just go out and fight him. I don't know what he'll do. I'll meet whatever he does."

"I've met lots of people who could box better than I. One for example—Phil Muscato. But I got him, too."

Whatever the plan of battle, it's all set. The fighter is ready. All he does now is wait for the bell for the 10-round bout Friday night. Confident is the word for Marciano.

Threatens New Honors

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 25 (AP)—Arthur McCashin, a 41-year-old former airlines pilot who now takes the hurdles on horseback, today threatened to ride off with individual honors at the Pennsylvania National Horse Show. McCashin, operator of a 200-acre farm at Pluckemin, N. J., has contributed to each of the United States equestrian team's three victories in the first six international jumping events at the week-long show. The stocky McCashin turned in his best performance of his career last night as he outrode Col. Humberto Mariles, Mexico's 1948 Olympic champion, to win the international individual jumping championship event.

Cornell Is Rated Edge Over Princeton in Ivy Headliner

Spartans, Illinois, USC Also Get Nod

New York, Oct. 25 (AP)—The cost of steak has gone up but you can chew on these football selections for the same old price:

Cornell over Princeton: The game of the season in the east with the winner the likely Ivy League champion. Cornell doesn't have anyone to equal Dick Kazmaier but it has the better balance and Rocco Calvo isn't exactly a slouch when it come to passing.

Michigan State over Pittsburgh: The Spartans' Don Coleman is one of the country's better tackles.

Illinois over Indiana: The Hoosiers hit their emotional peak against Ohio State last Saturday. The Illini will keep on grinding out yards and victories.

Maryland over Louisiana State: On comparative scores entirely—Maryland defeated Georgia, 43 to 7; LSU did it, 7 to 0. But the Southern Conference team will have to hustle for its victory.

Southern California over Texas Christian: Each club registered an upset last week. The Trojans rugged linebacking should decide this one.

Baylor over Texas A & M: It takes a brave man to make a selection on a southwest conference game but the impression here is that Isbell and Co., are slightly the stronger.

Vandy Over Tech

Vanderbilt over Georgia Tech: The Tech bubble has lasted about long enough. Wade to best Crawford in a pitching duel.

California over Oregon State: The Oregon State team that lost to Michigan State by a single touchdown at the start of the season might spill the injury-ridden Californians but apparently that was the Beavers game of the year.

Texas over Rice: The Texans want to forget that visit to Arkansas.

Friday Night

Saturday

Other Selections

Midwest: Cincinnati over Texas Western, Drake over Iowa State, Kansas over Kansas State, Miami (O.) over Marquette, Michigan over Minnesota, Nebraska over Missouri, Notre Dame over Purdue, Ohio State over Iowa, Oklahoma over Colorado, Tulsa over Wichita, Wisconsin over Northwestern.

South: Duke over Virginia, Georgia over Boston College, Kentucky over Florida, North Carolina State over Virginia Tech, Mississippi State over Alabama, The Citadel over Presbyterian, Tulane over Auburn, Virginia Military over Catawba, Wake Forest over North Carolina, Washington & Lee over Davidson, William & Mary over Richmond.

Southwest: Arkansas over Santa Clara, Hardin-Simmons over West Texas State, Houston over Villanova.

Ninth Jockey Loses Life In Waterford Park Race

The death yesterday of Richard McCraw, 23, during the running of the seventh race at Waterford Park in Newell, W. Va., raised to nine the number of jockeys killed in mishaps to date during 1951 in the United States and Canada. This compares to only three such deaths in 1950.

McCraw, an apprentice rider from Farmville, Va., was astride Junior Ireland when the horse stumbled at the three-quarter pole. McCraw, thrown over his mount's head, died of a broken neck.

Miami Beach, Fla. — Bobby Dykes, 152½, San Antonio, Tex., outpointed Roy Wouters, 158, Montreal, 10.

Bosox Release Rosar

Boston, Oct. 25 (AP)—The Boston Red Sox have given veteran catcher Warren (Buddy) Rosar his unconditional release. The 37-year-old backstop started his major league career with the New York Yankees in 1939. He came to the Red Sox from the Philadelphia Athletics after the 1949 season in a deal which sent infielder Billy Hitchcock to the A's.

Deer Herd Reported Bountiful With Start of Adirondack Season

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 25 (AP)—Thousands of big-game hunters stalked into the Adirondack woods today in hopes of bagging a buck on the first day of New York's deer season.

The antlered herd was reported bountiful in the 13-county northern area, where nimrods have until Nov. 25 to get the jump on fellow sportsmen in most other areas of the state.

More than 400,000 marksmen are expected to turn out this fall for hunting, considered a billion-dollar business in the Empire State. The state conservation department says the deer herd this year "substantially outnumbers the hunters," and "far exceeds the number present in Indian days."

The Adirondack district comprises all of 10 counties and parts of three others—Jefferson, Oneida and Herkimer. The 10 are Clinton, Essex, Franklin, Fulton, Hamilton, Lewis, Oswego, Saratoga, St. Lawrence and Warren.

The deer season doesn't start until Nov. 22 in most other areas of the state. In these areas the shooting continues until Dec. 6.

In Westchester county, the season runs from Nov. 15 to Dec. 15, but only bows and arrows may be used. In other areas, the archers could start after deer 14 days in advance of the regular season.

Coinciding with the deer season is that for black bear. A special big-game license, costing $2.25, must be carried by those seeking either or both. Hunting hours are from 7 a. m. EST, to 5 p. m.

Only deer with antlers not less than three inches long and bear "obviously beyond the cub stage (over a year old)" may be taken.

About 10 per cent of the forests are closed to hunting because of the blow-down damage done by last November's near-hurricane. But the conservation department has kept open a number of public campsites and has reopened several Adirondack trials to help the sportsmen.

MJM Elevens Will Play Friday Night

Something new in the way of half-time festivities between a football game has been scheduled for the municipal stadium Friday night.

After Coach Will Burke's Kingston High School eleven engages Oneonta High School in the first half, the seventh and eighth graders from the Myron J. Michael School will treat the fans to their half-time specialty — a football game.

In making the announcement today, G. Warren Kias, director of athletics at KHS, said the half-time gridiron tilt will replace the usual band display.

The Maroon-Oneonta clash is scheduled for 8 o'clock under the stadium lights.

CORNELL KEY MAN

Baseball Probers Plan No Hurried Solution

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP) — A House committee has wound up its investigation of baseball but Chairman Celler (D.-N.Y.) cautions there is no quick answer to the question of whether the sport violates the anti-trust laws.

"There are many complicating factors," Celler said yesterday as the hearings closed. "For that reason the subcommittee will not attempt any hurried solution."

Celler guessed it might take several months, or maybe until early in the next session of Congress.

The hearings ended shortly after Larry MacPhail, former New York Yankee president, called for the organization of six major leagues instead of the present two.

MacPhail didn't say how, or where, his six major loops would be set up. And the members of the judiciary subcommittee apparently were too surprised to ask.

But MacPhail, now a horse-breeder at Bel Air, Md., insisted it would solve many of baseball's most pressing problems.

This is Richard W. Kazmaier, Princeton back, who'll meet his top rival for Ivy League honors when the Tigers meet Cornell at Princeton next Saturday, Oct. 27. The 20-year-old, 171-pound, five-foot-eleven junior, from Maumee, O., is running neck and neck with Cornell's Rocco Calvo in total offense and touchdown department. Each has scored four touchdowns.

Optimism Shrouds Marciano's Camp

Greenwood Lake, Oct. 25 (AP)—Quiet optimism oozes from this training camp of Rocky Marciano, unbeaten Brockton, Mass. heavyweight with 37 straight victories.

The was the 27-year-old army veteran acts, you'd think he was ready for another humpty dumpty in providence rather than the chance of a lifetime against old Joe Louis.

Other fighters "died" in the dressing room from fear of the Brown Bomber's fists. This won't happen to Marciano.

Louis—even if he is 37 and showing signs of wear and tear—is enough to inspire deep respect especially in a youngster who has was only nine years old when Joe fought his first pro fight.

The respect is here—Marciano refuses to make brash statements about a knockout — but Rocky does not stand in awe of the bomber.

Doesn't Predict Kayo

"I've never predicted I'll knock anybody out," he told reporters yesterday after his final boxing drill. "I'm confident, very confident."

About plans of action. What did you expect Louis to try?

"We've given no though to Louis," he said. "I'll just go out and fight him. I don't know what he'll do. I'll meet whatever he does."

It's no secret that Marciano is far from a skilled boxer, and Louis is a top craftsman. Wasn't Rocky worried about that?

"I've met lots of people who could box better than I. One for example—Phil Muscato. But I got him, too."

Whatever the plan of battle, it's all set. The fighter is ready. All he does now is wait for the bell for the 10-round bout Friday night. Confident is the word for Marciano.

Threatens New Honors

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 25 (AP)—Arthur McCashin, a 41-year-old former airlines pilot who now takes the hurdles on horseback, today threatened to ride off with individual honors at the Pennsylvania National Horse Show. McCashin, operator of a 200-acre farm at Pluckemin, N. J., has contributed to each of the United States equestrian team's three victories in the first six international jumping events at the week-long show. The stocky McCashin turned in his best performance of his career last night as he outrode Col. Humberto Mariles, Mexico's 1948 Olympic champion, to win the international individual jumping championship event.

Family Fire Fighting

Washington, (AP)—Women ought to have fire-fighting know-how and each family should have home fire drills. So says a new booklet, "Fire Fighting for Householders," issued by the Federal Civil Defense Administration. The booklet points out that at least one member of each family should know how to use basic fire-fighting equipment. Such training can be obtained through the local civil defense organization.

Among the peoples, like the Nabuthiri Brahmins of Malabar, one and only one member of a family is permitted to marry.

Mierowitz Wins Senior Golf Title

A 30-handicap golfer, Mierowitz captured the 1951 Senior championship at the Hurley avenue links with a net score of 127 for the 36-hole route.

Undoubtedly, it was one of the most popular victories ever recorded at Wiltwyck. Mierowitz compiled 18-hole totals of 93 and 94 and had a 30-handicap pull. This excellent shooting gave Charlie a 13-stroke edge over his nearest competitor, Jay Rifenbary, who shot scores of 98 and 102, with 30-handicap, for 140 net.

Ray LeFevre won the 1950 title.

Family Fire Fighting

Washington, (AP)—Women ought to have fire-fighting know-how and each family should have home fire drills. So says a new booklet, "Fire Fighting for Householders," issued by the Federal Civil Defense Administration. The booklet points out that at least one member of each family should know how to use basic fire-fighting equipment. Such training can be obtained through the local civil defense organization.

Among the peoples, like the Nabuthiri Brahmins of Malabar, one and only one member of a family is permitted to marry.

Wishful Thinking

Semarang, Indonesia (AP) — Police here vainly searched a Chinese school for copies of a textbook published by the Peking government. The book, titled "World Geography," contains refence maps showing Formosa, Tibet, parts of Indo-China, Siam and Burma as belonging to Red China. The director of the school told police he ordered the book burned one month ago on learning Indonesian authorities had banned its use in schools.

More than 726,000,000 pennies were minted in the United States in 1950. This was more than three times the total of nickels, dimes, quarters and half-dollars.

Bradley 'Fixers' Plead Guilty; DA Hints More Coming

New York, Oct. 25 (AP)—Basketball All-America Gene Melchiorre, along with Bradley University teammates George Chianakis and William Mann, pleaded guilty Wednesday to conspiracy in the basketball scandal.

They had been indicted on charges of conspiracy, a misdemeanor, and bribery, a felony, in connection with a plot to fix a consolation playoff game with Bowling Green in the National Invitation Tournament in Madison Square Garden on March 19, 1949.

General Sessions Judge Saul S. Streit yesterday set Nov. 14 as the date they will be sentenced.

Assistant District Attorney Vincent A. G. O'Connor, in recommending that the three be permitted to plead guilty to the lesser count which carries a maximum sentence of three years, said they "have been most cooperative."

He asked that they receive the "same consideration as was accorded to the New York city players who were permitted to plead to misdemeanor counts to cover their indictments."

They were continued under $500 bail each after O'Connor explained the details of the fixed game as follows:

"They agreed to accept $1,500 ($500 each). But the deal by which the Bradley team was to lose by seven points fell through because a substitute who was not in the plot scored a last-minute field goal and cut Bowling Green's margin to five points. The result was an 82-77 victory for Bowling Green. It ruined the betting coup."

Already 31 players from seven colleges have been implicated in the scandal and the district attorney's office has hinted at more disclosures.

Do You Remember

BY SOPHIE MILLER

I have a habit, whenever I get an old picture in a frame I take it apart to see if anything is inside besides the picture. I guess other folks do that too. For I was uptown this afternoon, and someone bought some stuff from the Astor estate, among them was a picture and in taking it apart they found a part of a Boston newspaper dated June 10, 1892.

At the time Buffalo was having one of its heaviest rains. It said, "all the streets were flooded to a depth of two to three feet. At the school of St. Ann's Church the water rose over four feet on Broadway, and the children had to be taken home in wagons. The police and citizens were waist deep in water getting the children out of school."

I always heard that Boston was "something special about everything." Even back in June of 1892 the police department put away their black helmets and long coats for their summer coats and white helmets, which were highly polished. It seemed that the weather wasn't warm enough for this quick change from winter to summer clothes and many of the coats being unlined forced the officers to wear extra undercoats or cardigans under their uniform blouses.

In the want ad page there is nearly a column devoted to physicians who advertised at the time. I see their office hours were from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. They came right out with such advertising remarks as: "before buying any of the advertised medicines or visiting less skilled physicians; those who consult Dr. F. Herman are always satisfied; are assured of the quickest possible recovery . . . also superior accommodations for confinements." Another one at 48 Howard street allowed "a friendly chat will cost nothing . . . " This Dr. J. A. Bailey had also "best of board and nursing for patients who may desire to remain in the city under the doctor's personal care, all business strictly private." No doubt some of those old time physicians were fine men and excellent medical men of their time.

There is also an advertisement selling a Keel sloop with large cabin, fine sea boat, cheap for cash, or exchange for safety bicycle. (What's a safety bicycle?). This advertisement should interest the Barbers' Union: "All gentlemen who wish for entire satisfaction in pompadour and stylish hair cutting, beard trimming, to call at our establishment; we employ experienced artists. Proprietors, Daffinsen and Jensen, late with Alland Bros., 74½ Essex street, Boston." In other advertisements, too, barbers were called "artists." I understand that in those days, you could get a haircut in the afternoon, and if you were going out on a special date in the evening, you could step in the barbershop and have your hair re-combed for the event without special charge. There is a question that has bothered me for quite some time. When did creases come into men's trousers and how, by whom styled. Long ago, I remember the trousers had a band or elastic which kept the trousers taut as it fitted under the heel. Well, men's styles haven't changed much lately, except for louder ties and shirts.

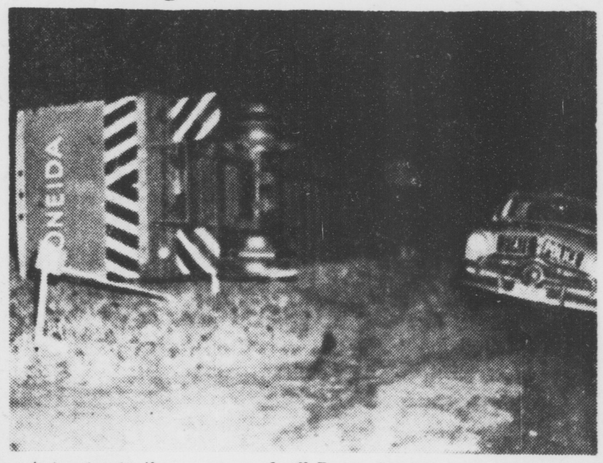
Big Trailer Overturns



A tractor-trailer overturned off Route 9W after it collided with a passenger automobile at the intersection of that highway and Albany avenue extension at 9:30 p. m. Wednesday, state police reported. The trailer truck, headed south, knocked down several guard rails and turned over off the east side of the highway after it collided with an automobile driven by William McSpirit, 33, of Hurley, who at the time was attempting to turn right from Route 209 (Albany avenue extension) in order to proceed south on the East Chester street by-pass, troopers said. The larger vehicle was owned and operated by James Minosh, 35, of Frankfurt, the state police said. No personal injuries were reported and no arrests were made. (James Anner Photo)

DYNAMIC—Fullback Byron Townsend, left, carried 228 times for Texas and a new National Collegiate Athletic Association record last Fall, is maintaining the pace this season. An 18-year-old freshman, Buddy Leake, center, stepped in when rib injuries sidelined Oklahoma's remarkable tailback, Billy Vessels. Halfback Don Robinson helped California serve notice scoring two touchdowns against Pennsylvania in less than a minute. (NEA)

Wishful Thinking

Semarang, Indonesia (AP) — Police here vainly searched a Chinese school for copies of a textbook published by the Peking government. The book, titled "World Geography," contains reference maps showing Formosa, Tibet, parts of Indo-China, Siam and Burma as belonging to Red China. The director of the school told police he ordered the book burned one month ago on learning Indonesian authorities had banned its use in schools.

Bradley 'Fixers' Plead Guilty; DA Hints More Coming

New York, Oct. 25 (AP)—Basketball All-America Gene Melchiorre, along with Bradley University teammates George Chianakis and William Mann, pleaded guilty Wednesday to conspiracy in the basketball scandal.

They had been indicted on charges of conspiracy, a misdemeanor, and bribery, a felony, in connection with a plot to fix a consolation playoff game with Bowling Green in the National Invitation Tournament in Madison Square Garden on March 19, 1949.

General Sessions Judge Saul S. Streit yesterday set Nov. 14 as the date they will be sentenced.

Assistant District Attorney Vincent A. G. O'Connor, in recommending that the three be permitted to plead guilty to the lesser count which carries a maximum sentence of three years, said they "have been most cooperative."

He asked that they receive the "same consideration as was accorded to the New York city players who were permitted to plead to misdemeanor counts to cover their indictments."

They were continued under $500 bail each after O'Connor explained the details of the fixed game as follows:

"They agreed to accept $1,500 ($500 each). But the deal by which the Bradley team was to lose by seven points fell through because a substitute who was not in the plot scored a last-minute field goal and cut Bowling Green's margin to five points. The result was an 82-77 victory for Bowling Green. It ruined the betting coup."

Already 31 players from seven colleges have been implicated in the scandal and the district attorney's office has hinted at more disclosures.

Do You Remember

BY SOPHIE MILLER

I have a habit, whenever I get an old picture in a frame I take it apart to see if anything is inside besides the picture. I guess other folks do that too. For I was uptown this afternoon, and someone bought some stuff from the Astor estate, among them was a picture and in taking it apart they found a part of a Boston newspaper dated June 10, 1892.

At the time Buffalo was having one of its heaviest rains. It said, "all the streets were flooded to a depth of two to three feet. At the school of St. Ann's Church the water rose over four feet on Broadway, and the children had to be taken home in wagons. The police and citizens were waist deep in water getting the children out of school."

I always heard that Boston was "something special about everything." Even back in June of 1892 the police department put away their black helmets and long coats for their summer coats and white helmets, which were highly polished. It seemed that the weather wasn't warm enough for this quick change from winter to summer clothes and many of the coats being unlined forced the officers to wear extra undercoats or cardigans under their uniform blouses.

In the want ad page there is nearly a column devoted to physicians who advertised at the time. I see their office hours were from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. They came right out with such advertising remarks as: "before buying any of the advertised medicines or visiting less skilled physicians; those who consult Dr. F. Herman are always satisfied; are assured of the quickest possible recovery . . . also superior accommodations for confinements." Another one at 48 Howard street allowed "a friendly chat will cost nothing . . . " This Dr. J. A. Bailey had also "best of board and nursing for patients who may desire to remain in the city under the doctor's personal care, all business strictly private." No doubt some of those old time physicians were fine men and excellent medical men of their time.

There is also an advertisement selling a Keel sloop with large cabin, fine sea boat, cheap for cash, or exchange for safety bicycle. (What's a safety bicycle?). This advertisement should interest the Barbers' Union: "All gentlemen who wish for entire satisfaction in pompadour and stylish hair cutting, beard trimming, to call at our establishment; we employ experienced artists. Proprietors, Daffinsen and Jensen, late with Alland Bros., 74½ Essex street, Boston." In other advertisements, too, barbers were called "artists." I understand that in those days, you could get a haircut in the afternoon, and if you were going out on a special date in the evening, you could step in the barbershop and have your hair re-combed for the event without special charge. There is a question that has bothered me for quite some time. When did creases come into men's trousers and how, by whom styled. Long ago, I remember the trousers had a band or elastic which kept the trousers taut as it fitted under the heel. Well, men's styles haven't changed much lately, except for louder ties and shirts.

Big Trailer Overturns

A tractor-trailer overturned off Route 9W after it collided with a passenger automobile at the intersection of that highway and Albany avenue extension at 9:30 p. m. Wednesday, state police reported. The trailer truck, headed south, knocked down several guard rails and turned over off the east side of the highway after it collided with an automobile driven by William McSpirit, 33, of Hurley, who at the time was attempting to turn right from Route 209 (Albany avenue extension) in order to proceed south on the East Chester street by-pass, troopers said. The larger vehicle was owned and operated by James Minosh, 35, of Frankfurt, the state police said. No personal injuries were reported and no arrests were made. (James Anner Photo)

Not So Easy

Singapore (AP) — More than 4,000 Singapore Chinese who went to Communist China now are seeking to return here. They've applied for re-entry visas but they'll likely have a long wait. It was estimated that investigation of applications would require several months. Strict measures are now being enforced to prevent illegal entry and exit. Persons desiring to leave must show good cause before any exit permit is granted.

Riot Car

Singapore (AP)—Singapore's police will get their first specially constructed riot van early in November. The car, being built locally, will have a turret for carrying light machine guns, searchlights and other equipment. The government is spending $16,600 to equip the first squad of 48 men being formed into a new riot squad similar to the Shanghai riot unit.

India Imports Sugar

New Delhi (AP) — India in 1950-51 imported 60,000 tons of sugar from the United Kingdom at a cost of $12,915,000 to supplement her own internal production of 1,100,000 tons, a food ministry spokesman said here. He added the United Kingdom was able to fill India's entire needs because of the 20,000 tons of raw sugar supplied to London by the United States.

Even though the team has lost one game, the team has a possible chance for first place in the Ulster County League Association.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Panaccione returned home Tuesday from a trip through New Jersey. En route they visited Mr. and Mrs. Pietro Panaccione at Rahway, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Panaccione at Bayonne, Mr. and Mrs. Achileto Panaccione at Linden, and Carmela Iattarelli at Bergenfield. While there, they also attended the wedding of their niece, Lucy Panaccione, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pietro Panaccione at Rahway.

Not So Easy

Singapore (AP) — More than 4,000 Singapore Chinese who went to Communist China now are seeking to return here. They've applied for re-entry visas but they'll likely have a long wait. It was estimated that investigation of applications would require several months. Strict measures are now being enforced to prevent illegal entry and exit. Persons desiring to leave must show good cause before any exit permit is granted.

Riot Car

Singapore (AP)—Singapore's police will get their first specially constructed riot van early in November. The car, being built locally, will have a turret for carrying light machine guns, searchlights and other equipment. The government is spending $16,600 to equip the first squad of 48 men being formed into a new riot squad similar to the Shanghai riot unit.

India Imports Sugar

New Delhi (AP) — India in 1950-51 imported 60,000 tons of sugar from the United Kingdom at a cost of $12,915,000 to supplement her own internal production of 1,100,000 tons, a food ministry spokesman said here. He added the United Kingdom was able to fill India's entire needs because of the 20,000 tons of raw sugar supplied to London by the United States.

Still Around Some Place

Helena, Mont. (AP) — This one stumped the Helena Chamber of Commerce: Leoti Stairet of Washington state visited Montana 15 years ago and saw some "beautiful mountain scenery." Now he wants the chamber to figure out where it was. Montana ramles across 147,138 square miles—about a third of it in the Rocky Mountains.

Policeman Turns Cowpoke

There are certain responsibilities attendant on maintaining livestock as Patrolman Hilman Burdin discovered in Muskegon, Mich. Burdin herded this cow to police headquarters after it escaped while awaiting transfer to a slaughter house in Muskegon, and then faced the chore of the milking routine. All in the line of duty....they say. (AP Wirephoto).

Officials Optimistic

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—State Department officials appeared cautiously optimistic today about changes for the resumption of talks between Britain and Iran in their bitter tug-of-war over Iran's oil nationalization. American officials were reported to be exploring intensively with Iranian Premier Mohammed Mossadegh various proposals for a formula which might provide a basis for negotiations. The British government was being kept informed of developments.

To Produce Planes

Rome, Oct. 25 (AP)—Italy expects to be mass producing British-designed Vampire jet fighter planes by the end of the year. Defense Minister Randolfo Pacciardi disclosed this last night and said another jet fighter, all-Italian in design and manufacture, will be ready for testing by the end of this month. Pacciardi spoke during a Senate debate on Italy's $690,000,000 defense budget.

Heavy Eater

The average American eats 106,400 pounds of food during an average life span of 56 years. His total meat consumption consists of about 33 hogs, six steers, five sheep, and three calves, according to statistics.

Union Hose Reviews History at Celebration

Among the 150 persons attending a dinner at DeCicco's Restaurant when Union Hose Company 4 celebrated its 75th anniversary were (l. to r.) William Keating, president; Joseph F. Sullivan, honorary president; Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk; the Rev. Frank L. Gollnick, chaplain; Christopher J. Burke, 92, only living charter member, and Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy, who joined the company in 1902.

Volunteers Proud of Achievements During 75 Years of Fire Fighting

The science of fire fighting in this modern age and the equipment available to assist the volunteers was compared to that of bygone days by Joseph F. Sullivan, honorary president, Union Hose Company 4, when he spoke with great pride of the organization's achievements during the past 75 years, at the anniversary dinner held last night in DeCicco's restaurant for 150 members and guests, including several local dignitaries.

Christopher J. Burke, Jersey City, N. J., the only living charter member of the company, was the guest of honor to whom the souvenir program for the celebration was dedicated. Mr. Burke, now 92 years old, joined the organization on October 6, 1876. It is a rare privilege, given to few men, to assist in the celebration of the 75th anniversary of a group he has helped to organize.

The speakers for the evening included Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, chaplain, the Rev. Frank L. Gollnick; Foreman Robert Winchell, who made the address of welcome; Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy, and Mrs. Julia Kain, president, Ladies' Auxiliary, and Mr. Burke.

In his address, Mr. Sullivan told the large assemblage that Union Hose Company has been for 75 years carrying on the tradition of volunteer fire fighting established in 1859 by Ponckhockie Engine Company. This company was succeeded by Gokey Hose Company, which lasted for only a short period when it was followed by the present company.

Giving the Fire Alarm

"Our first equipment," he said, "consisted of a two-wheel hose cart on jumper as it was commonly called in those days. The fire alarm was given by the ringing of the Newark Lime and Cement Company's bell. Then the officers were charged with the duty of going about the streets pounding on the doors to awaken members so that there might be enough manpower to get the apparatus to the fire, sometimes a mile away."

Fifty-six years ago, the company had a four-wheeled hose cart but it also was hand drawn and required, according to the speaker, "considerable beef" to get it over the High Road and maybe across town. Tough job though it was to get it to the fire, the matter of getting it home after the fire was in itself a problem, for many reasons.

Chiefs Up From the Ranks

The company boasts of having graduated three fire chiefs from its ranks. They are Martin J. Ryan, first foreman, who later served as Fire Chief in Norfolk, Virginia; Michael J. Rafferty, who was, to quote the speaker, "the most outstanding chief of the Volunteer Fire Department of the City of Kingston; and "our own" Fire Chief, Joseph L. Murphy.

Chief Murphy Fire Expert

Mr. Sullivan had this to say of Chief Murphy, "He is not only a credit to Union Hose Company, but by the testimony of one of the most prominent fire experts of the state, he is considered one of the finest fire chiefs in the Empire State. He is a student of his profession, an able administrator, a kindly disciplinarian and a conscientious public servant." The Fire Chief is assisted in his duties by another Union Hose man, Deputy George D. Matthews. Captain William J. Geary and Fireman Clayton Stalter also received special tribute.

A brief account of the fire fighting Rafferty family was outlined by the speaker. He displayed a parade trumpet and parade helmet which articles have been in that family for nearly 100 years. Mr. Sullivan commended the many members who are veterans of World Wars 1 and 2 and the Ladies' Auxiliary.

Volunteers Saluted

The talk was concluded when Mr. Sullivan said, "You have heard Chief Murphy tell of the value of the volunteer companies to his department. I sometimes wonder if the people of this and other communities really appreciate what volunteer fire service means to them. The volunteer risks his health and sometimes his life to protect your home, your property, even your very life. He is a true volunteer . . . expects and receives no compensation, oftentimes unjust criticism. I salute him as a true, peacetime hero deserving of the appreciation of the community he serves."

William Keating, Sr. presided during the evening and welcomed the honored guests, Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, Chaplain Frank L. Gollnick, Samuel Perry, William Sinsabaugh, alderman and supervisor respectively of the fifth ward, Fire Commissioners Charles Derrenbacher, Henry Kelsch and Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy.

The committee arranging the anniversary celebration were Chief Murphy, Joseph F. Sullivan, honorary chairman; William J. Keating, Sr., chairman; Robert Winchell, co-chairman; Deputy Chief George D. Matthews; Frederick Blankschen, Donald Matthews, Frederick Kain, Robert Matthews, Clayton Stalter, LeRoy Schaefer, Francis S. Cashin, and William Bilyou.

Members now in service and who could not attend the event include Francis Buchanan, William Garavan, John Wrinn, John A. Perry, Jack Blankschen, Richard Matthews, Michael Yonta, and Donald Schoepf.

A reception for members of Union Hose Company, Ladies' Auxiliary and guests will be held Saturday evening at the company headquarters, 216 E. Union street.

Drive for Scrap Iron To Open November 1

The critical need for scrap iron and steel was outlined in a letter which Emil G. Boessneck, chairman of the Ulster county scrap mobilization committee, has mailed to a group of key industries. The committee has set the dates of Nov. 1 to Nov. 15 as the period during which everybody should sell every bit of available scrap iron and steel.

The letter stated that many important civilian and defense projects are being delayed because of a shortage of steel. The reasons given are as follows: Steel is made of about ½ scrap and ½ pig iron. Every pound of scrap doubles the output of steel. In addition every ton of scrap conserves about two tons of iron ore, a ton of coal and a ton of limestone.

Boessneck also stated that scrap metal collection is one of the most important things we can all do to help protect the freedom and prosperity we enjoy. Oddly enough it is profitable to sell and market available scrap and at the same time help the production of essential goods for both civilian and defense uses. The committee suggests that everyone who has scrap metal to sell contact one of the local scrap dealers. They have all pledged their full cooperation and will pay the highest market value for any scrap metal offered for sale.

Geary Is Head

The county committee is headed by John S. Geary of Wawarsing as chairman. Vice chairman is Edward M. Wood of Milton. Regular member is Valentine K. Garrison of Wallkill, and alternates are Stanley Osterhoudt of Pine Hill and Philip L. DiStasi of Highland.

The committeemen will have "greater than usual" responsibilities in the coming year, according to Geary. The national emergency and the defense production program have added a great deal to their responsibility, he explained. Farmer-committeemen serve only a few days a year in program administration, but they are on call at any time to carry out special assignments, he said.

Tribune Backs General

New York, Oct. 25 (AP)—The New York Herald Tribune is supporting Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the Republican nomination for president in 1952. Mrs. Ogden Reid, president of the newspaper, made the announcement last night to the audience of the Herald Tribune forum after the meeting itself was over. Simultaneously, front page editorials endorsing the general appeared in Paris and New York editions of the newspaper, which classifies itself politically as Independent-Republican. Eisenhower, the paper said, "is the man" for the Republican party.

Her Honor

The only woman to hold a commission in the Confederate army during the Civil War was Capt. Sally Louisa Tompkins, a nurse, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Plans for World Community Day were completed at the meeting of the Highland Council of Church Women Tuesday night at the Presbyterian manse, with Mrs. Oscar Jelsma, hostess. This service will be held at 3 p. m., Nov. 2, in the Methodist Church. Mrs. Louis E. Smith is chairman, and the topic of the day is Live by Faith. At this service the blankets, quilts and afghans which have been donated or made by individuals or groups for use in Korea and other needy areas will be dedicated. At the conclusion they will be packed and sent for distribution through Church World Service. Mrs. Jacob Schuhle, chairman of the sewing and supply committee of the Council, is in charge of this. Postage and processing charges will be paid by the council, and anyone wishing to help in this way may give their contribution to Mrs. Albert Thompson, treasurer, or Miss Emily Lent, president. Mrs. Jelsma reported on the Protestant released time religious education classes which are held in the Methodist and Presbyterian Churches Tuesday afternoons. The seventh and eighth grades meet in the Presbyterian Church hall under the direction of the Rev. Stanley Jones. They will study church history, using Roland Bainton's Church of Our Fathers. The fourth, fifth and sixth grades meet in the Methodist Church hall and will study worship and Old and New Testament stories. Teachers for this group are the Rev. and Mrs. Jelsma, Mrs. Oscar Elliott, Miss Belle Brinckerhoff and Mrs. Charles Baker. More teachers and substitutes are needed. The council sponsors this project with the pastors of the churches in charge. Mrs. George DuBois, chairman of the council's interfaith committee, told of her efforts to get the magazines of the various religious denominations into the Highland Free library. Three representatives of the Clintondale Friends meeting, a part of the council, were present. To Play at Victory Ball

Drive for Scrap Iron To Open November 1

The critical need for scrap iron and steel was outlined in a letter which Emil G. Boessneck, chairman of the Ulster county scrap mobilization committee, has mailed to a group of key industries. The committee has set the dates of Nov. 1 to Nov. 15 as the period during which everybody should sell every bit of available scrap iron and steel.

The letter stated that many important civilian and defense projects are being delayed because of a shortage of steel. The reasons given are as follows: Steel is made of about ½ scrap and ½ pig iron. Every pound of scrap doubles the output of steel. In addition every ton of scrap conserves about two tons of iron ore, a ton of coal and a ton of limestone.

Boessneck also stated that scrap metal collection is one of the most important things we can all do to help protect the freedom and prosperity we enjoy. Oddly enough it is profitable to sell and market available scrap and at the same time help the production of essential goods for both civilian and defense uses. The committee suggests that everyone who has scrap metal to sell contact one of the local scrap dealers. They have all pledged their full cooperation and will pay the highest market value for any scrap metal offered for sale.

Old Mountain House May Be Sold in Parts

The imposing frame structure, 2,500 feet above Palenville, is owned by Milo Claude Moseman, Tannersville attorney, and negotiations are under way for the sale of a major portion of the hotel, the newspaper said.

Land on which the building stands is not to be included in the sale and it is expected that the center portion of the hotel, which was built in 1824, will be preserved and used by Attorney Moseman.

John Malasky, Hudson automobile dealer is interested in the other portion of the frame structure which is one of the largest mountain hotels in the region. It was operated continuously from 1842 until September, 1942.

To Award Contract

The Hudson man said a contract for razing the structure will be awarded to the Bell Rigging and Wrecking Co., of Hudson, and work is expected to start next Monday. It is planned to preserve the portion housing the lobby, ballroom and veranda. Salvaged materials will be sold on the site of the building.

Known throughout the world for its view of the Catskill mountain and Hudson valley regions, it attracted guests from all parts of the nation and many countries of the world. Its best years were in the reconstruction period after the Civil War.

It was operated for many years by C. L. Beach, and later members of his family. John K. Van Wagonen, husband of Mary Beach, now of Miami, Fla., was affiliated with its manegement from 1905 until 1931. In the depression years it was taken over by the Catskill Mountain House Inc., with Attorney Clyde F. Gardner, of Saugerties, and Attorney Moseman, owning the majority of stock. Moseman later purchased controlling interest.

Columns Damaged

The famous Otis incline railroad near the Mountain House, built in 1885, was demolished in 1918. It shuttled passengers of the Catskill & Tannerville narrow gauge railroad up and down the mountain. The little "huckleberry" line was also demolished about 30 years ago.

Attorney Moseman said he plans to make use of the central portion of the mountain house in conjunction with a summer park development and has to date erected one model house along the lake near the hotel. New York state owns about 2,800 acres of North Mountain, near the mountain house property, and this is operated as a state park.

Taxpayers Back Candidates Who Favor Tax Plan

Members of the Esopus Taxpayers Association, Inc., at a meeting in the town hall in Port Ewen Wednesday night resolved to endorse town candidates "who placed themselves on the record" as favoring the association's assessment plan.

The resolution, offered by William Buddenhagen, did not specify the candidates to be endorsed, but it was considered significant by observers that during the same meeting Wednesday night Edward Eckert, Republican candidate for supervisor of the town of Esopus, spoke in favor of the Taxpayers Association assessment plan.

"If this plan has worked in other townships, there is no reason why we cannot adopt it too," Eckert said. "It is a workable plan which will favor the individual, and if elected we will see that it is adopted officially." Eckert has served as secretary of the association since its beginning.

Grady Complimented

John Grady, president, told those present that the association's plan would benefit the individual taxpayer. By using actual figures of residences in the township, Grady demonstrated his contention that if the plan had been adopted "the rate would have been lowered and individuals would have paid substantially less."

A vote of confidence was given President Grady by those attending the meeting. New members were enrolled.

The assessment plan proposed by the association was offered as a replacement for the reassessment program which had been completed in that township this year and which the association claims is unfair.

First Dutch Movies

East Side of Heaven starring Bing Crosby is the movie which will be shown in Bethany Hall of the First Dutch Church Saturday. There will be two shows, at 2 p. m. and at 7 p. m. A small admission will be charged. These movies are being shown in the interest of parents who requested that the church take a part in selecting good movies for the children. The pictures have an A-1 rating from Parents' Magazine and are chosen for being of interest to all ages, adults as well as children. Everyone is cordially invited.

Old Mountain House May Be Sold in Parts

The Catskill Mountain House, one of the area's oldest resort hostelries, which has been left for years to disintegrate in the weather, may be sold in part, the Catskill Daily Mail said yesterday.

The imposing frame structure, 2,500 feet above Palenville, is owned by Milo Claude Moseman, Tannersville attorney, and negotiations are under way for the sale of a major portion of the hotel, the newspaper said.

Land on which the building stands is not to be included in the sale and it is expected that the center portion of the hotel, which was built in 1824, will be preserved and used by Attorney Moseman.

John Malasky, Hudson automobile dealer is interested in the other portion of the frame structure which is one of the largest mountain hotels in the region. It was operated continuously from 1842 until September, 1942.

To Award Contract

The Hudson man said a contract for razing the structure will be awarded to the Bell Rigging and Wrecking Co., of Hudson, and work is expected to start next Monday. It is planned to preserve the portion housing the lobby, ballroom and veranda. Salvaged materials will be sold on the site of the building.

Known throughout the world for its view of the Catskill mountain and Hudson valley regions, it attracted guests from all parts of the nation and many countries of the world. Its best years were in the reconstruction period after the Civil War.

It was operated for many years by C. L. Beach, and later members of his family. John K. Van Wagonen, husband of Mary Beach, now of Miami, Fla., was affiliated with its manegement from 1905 until 1931. In the depression years it was taken over by the Catskill Mountain House Inc., with Attorney Clyde F. Gardner, of Saugerties, and Attorney Moseman, owning the majority of stock. Moseman later purchased controlling interest.

Columns Damaged

Some of its imposing front columns, representing the 13 original colonies, were damaged in the severe wind and rain storm of November, 1950.

The famous Otis incline railroad near the Mountain House, built in 1885, was demolished in 1918. It shuttled passengers of the Catskill & Tannerville narrow gauge railroad up and down the mountain. The little "huckleberry" line was also demolished about 30 years ago.

Attorney Moseman said he plans to make use of the central portion of the mountain house in conjunction with a summer park development and has to date erected one model house along the lake near the hotel. New York state owns about 2,800 acres of North Mountain, near the mountain house property, and this is operated as a state park.

Taxpayers Back Candidates Who Favor Tax Plan

Members of the Esopus Taxpayers Association, Inc., at a meeting in the town hall in Port Ewen Wednesday night resolved to endorse town candidates "who placed themselves on the record" as favoring the association's assessment plan.

The resolution, offered by William Buddenhagen, did not specify the candidates to be endorsed, but it was considered significant by observers that during the same meeting Wednesday night Edward Eckert, Republican candidate for supervisor of the town of Esopus, spoke in favor of the Taxpayers Association assessment plan.

"If this plan has worked in other townships, there is no reason why we cannot adopt it too," Eckert said. "It is a workable plan which will favor the individual, and if elected we will see that it is adopted officially." Eckert has served as secretary of the association since its beginning.

Grady Complimented

John Grady, president, told those present that the association's plan would benefit the individual taxpayer. By using actual figures of residences in the township, Grady demonstrated his contention that if the plan had been adopted "the rate would have been lowered and individuals would have paid substantially less."

A vote of confidence was given President Grady by those attending the meeting. New members were enrolled.

The assessment plan proposed by the association was offered as a replacement for the reassessment program which had been completed in that township this year and which the association claims is unfair.
